Dear Fed -

It doesn't seem real that we'll never even be moving back into a 203 next fall. I won't be 203 next year & I would never into it's been a year since I've been equal to forget - one I would put in into an autobiography in high school. I feel more like a chapter or two have really grown up, forced you to grow up more helping you roommate. I have a chapter and one of the last few years I have been being shaped up, you helped me up which has been a true friend & I have always been a summer, when & I have been listening to and most of us. That this isn't helping people, I have a wish my life now all could be ideas you & I think that has helped both of us. I have bad thoughts & characteritics and certain thoughts & play the what ones we want to invite to be. I want to prove to myself that I'm not good for lonely wife. It's going to be night, I want to sing it with you every morning. Best friend with every morning & you keep general interest in others and your vivacious & you'll go far! you feel moving ahead

Love
Marie

Freshmen strolling under the arch . . . the new and different framed in the old and traditional. Yes, CHANGE does occur at DePauw, in spite of its seeming immutability . . . try this year for an example. The class of '64, foreign students who came to see DePauw from WITHIN rather than without, and new faces above the lecterns altered the "community" they joined. Studies went on, but new courses and methods were tried. THE organization of a student court resulted from an uproar over discipline . . . boots and leotards and fur collars resulted from heavy snows. From blueprint to FRAMEWORK to openhouse, building projects progressed and multiplied. Established traditions relinquished their hold . . . kissing at the boulder died out in face OF the fact that a girl could become a coed in a bumroom, and the senior bench stood empty, abandoned for the rail in front of Asbury. And yet the symbol of TRADITION itself, East College, observed it all and decided that it's really still the same "old DePauw."

Frosh and Foreign Students Meant New Faces . . .

Historic Meharry Hall witnessed the inevitability of change as a new class of freshmen gathered for an orientation session.

New faces on the faculty Professors Orlasky, Bustamante, Warren and Bullaro—enjoy that venerable institution, the coffee break, at the Hub.

Dr. Heller left to accept a position at the new Alaska Methodist University

The Curriculum Expanded to Add Honors, Seminars...

Seminars, receiving added emphasis, were held in math for advanced students

Russian courses broadened their scope this year by offering a new seminar class.

Ousting of the Friars Resulted in Hub Parties . . .

East College lawn rumbled with debate and delirium when a midnight mob converged there after administration crackdown on the Friars.

Students reveal their gregarious nature as they gather for bridge and borassing in the Hub at TGIF parties instituted by the UB this year.

Senate's Answer Was to Plan a Student Court ...

In an all-campus referendum students voiced their approval of the constitution of the proposed student court to go into effect in April.

Ann Gilbert is in the vogue with her huge raccoon collar.

New Fads and Fashions Crowded the Closets...

Some people call them artist boots; whatever they are, they're the most comfortable shoes in ages.

Jim Downey sports the ever-popular vest

A Need for More Space Resulted in Building ...

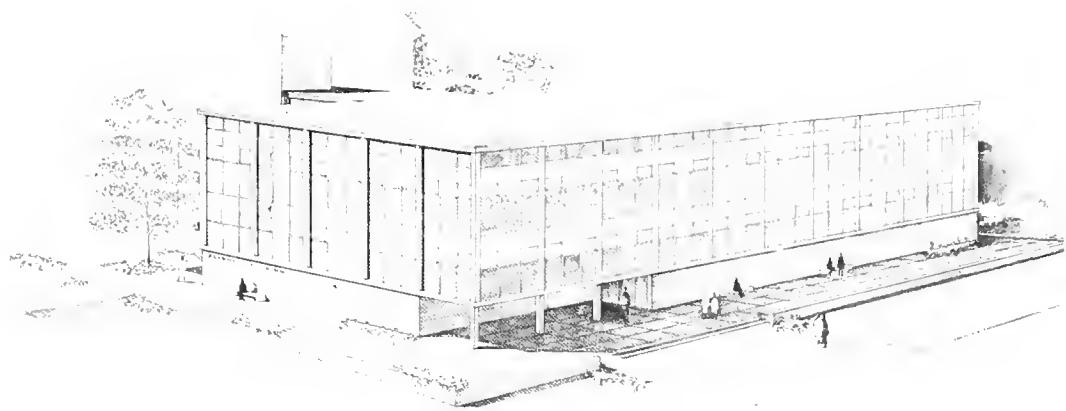

The history of this building, now the center of art activity, dates back to the University's earliest days, then the college library.

Sigma Chi men moved into their new split-level house this year.

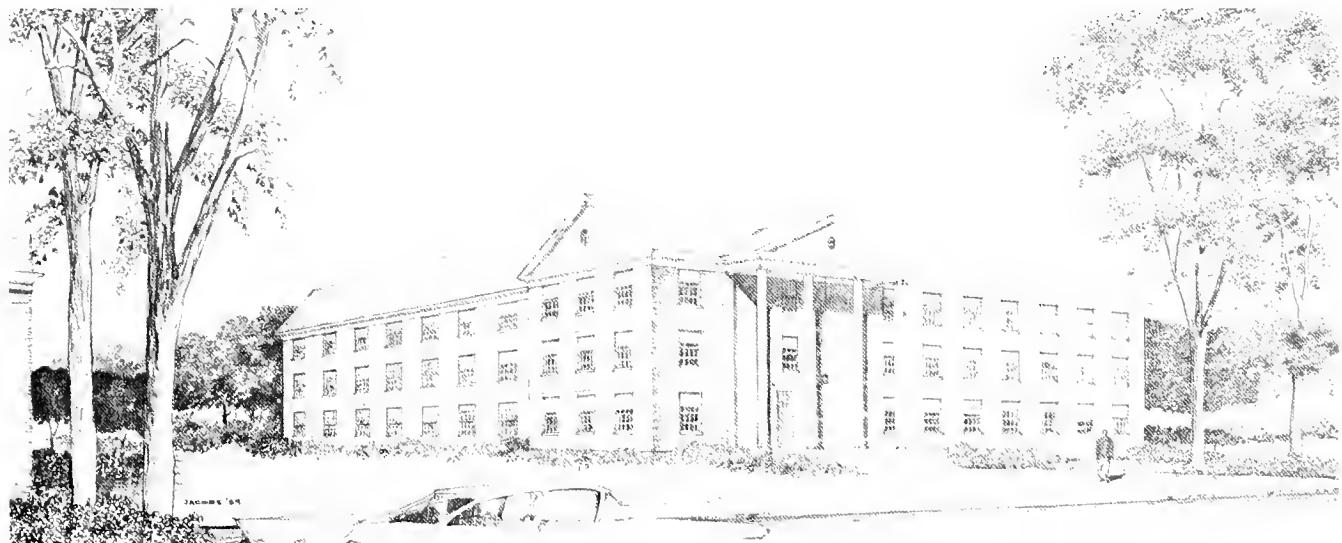

Combining modern and oriental motif, this new structure is the Tri Delt sorority, situated on the same grounds.

DePauw, blending historic wealth with modern progress, will expand old Minshall lab with this new structure.

GDP Planned to Join the Trend Next Year . . .

Responding to the demands for change, the University will break ground in the near future to construct the Men's Dorm pictured here.

Old Traditions Inevitably Gave Way to New . . .

A new tradition—sittin' on the railing (outside Asbury) watchin' all the girls go by.

Couples, seeking a change of atmosphere, discovered the Terrace Room for Sunday night meals.

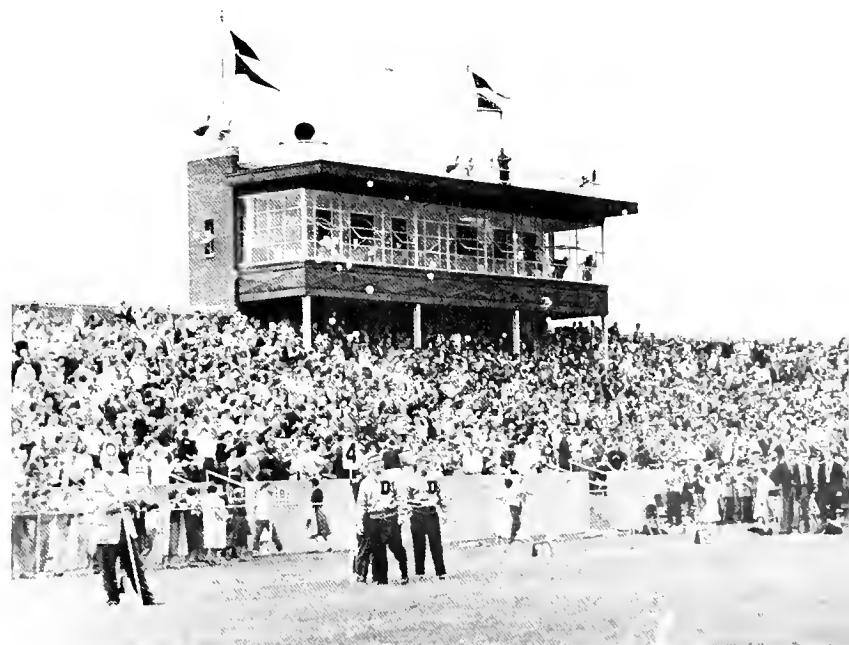

It's the same old story—the pin girl foots the bill for Sunday night dinners.

Others Became Even More Firmly Entrenched . . .

Sweetheart rings with sorority and fraternity crests were in the vogue again this year.

An Old Gold Day custom—the release of gold balloons after first touchdown.

And East College, Tradition Itself, Still Stood . . .

NEWS OF THE YEAR

Frosh Ran Gauntlet Of Orientation, Registration ...

A counselor helps freshman map out a tentative schedule.

There's no better way to become acquainted with your future roommate than to start working together right away, trying to rearrange the clutter.

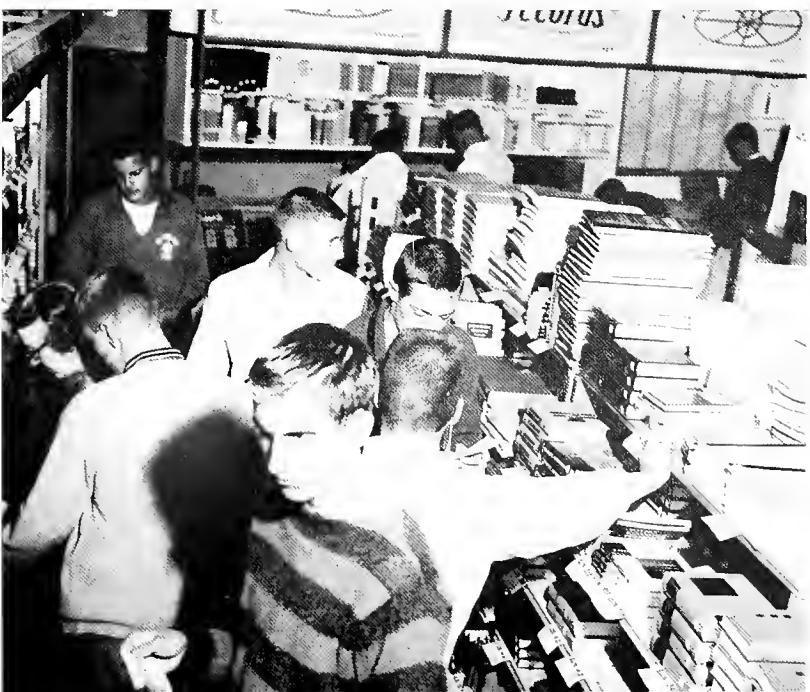

Gallont males converge in back of Rector to help horrid fathers unload their doughters' baggage on opening day.

Freshmen soon discover that registration's a drawn-out affair and that it's the early arriver that gets through first.

Obtaining the necessary books can sometimes be a frustrating experience.

Rushers and rushees found time for reciprocal scrutiny while they enjoyed the colorful sarangs and charming alohas of these lovely, hip-swaying hula girls

While Actives Polished Trophies and

"Palaver and propaganda are our names, the friends of truth and frankness . . . we welcome questions."

A firm handshake and ready smile are necessary qualifications for prospective pledges and bidding actives.

Hid Paddles in Preparation for Rush . . .

High excitement prevailed as a sorority and its newly-pledged members gathered in the Hub for a cake.

The East College bell signals a change in classes . . . then suddenly the sidewalks in the quad are filled

Classes and the Quest for Intellectual Nourishment Began . . .

The smoking room of the library offers an excellent place to daydream and cat-nap

Pajama-clad fellows steal a quick kiss from these gay young ladies. And it's all for a charitable cause.

WUS Carnival Roused Campus from Routine . . .

Versatile faculty members blast forth with their favorite renditions of lively bar room ballads.

Beautiful trainers couldn't even coax these stubborn frogs to co-operate—must have had stage fright

Intransigent Frogs Heightened Hilarity . . .

Male be cheered by this thought: "He laughs best who laughs last."

Pie Eaters Perplexed Field Day Judges . . .

The line-up KTK judges put gols goms through trying paces when they poss judgement during Legs Contest

This looks risque, but actually it's just the senior pin couples' suitcase race.

Strange as it may seem, AWS judges found that even the male leg is not without a certain aesthetic beauty

The prerequisites for the senior women's pie-eating contest—ravenous appetites and a hollow leg

Half-Time Deluge Wilted Old Gold Decor, But Not Spirits of Alums . . .

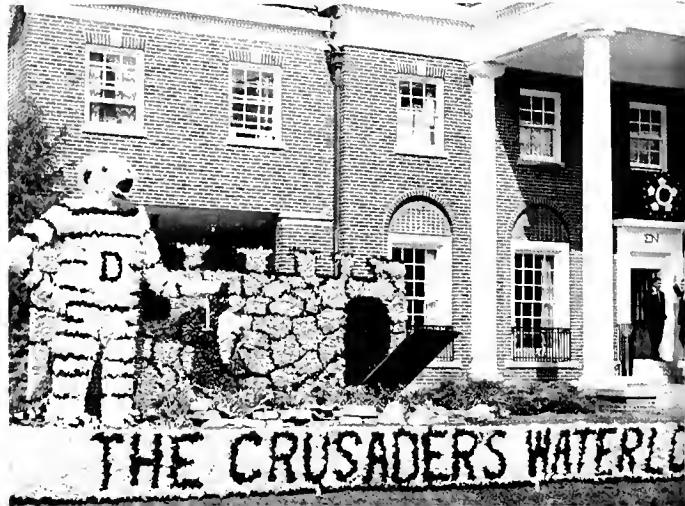

A shiny Corvette is coronation coach for this Old Gold Day Queen attendant as she passes admiring subjects.

Tri Delt's spider web captured a Crusader and a first place.

Sigma Nu's "Waterloo" took first place in men's division.

The weatherman co-operated just long enough for the KTK President to crown the Old Gold Queen, Flip Phillips.

The crowd reflected a multitude of expressions as they watched the Tigers crucify the Valpo Crusaders.

Dads get a chance to rest their weary feet after a hectic day as their sons honor them with a serenade.

Two Weeks Later Under New Set of Rain Clouds the Dads Arrived . . .

A jazz combo furnished background music for U-B bridge party

DPU tiger and his pint-sized mascot braved the elements to cheer team.

After attending the AFROTC review, Dad's Association Luncheon, and trekking all over campus, Dads welcomed a smorgasboard.

The Little Theater presentation of "The Happiest Millionaire" climaxed the weekend's activities.

Socializing—a Watermelon Bust and a Pig Roast—Was Balm for Book-Weary Souls . . .

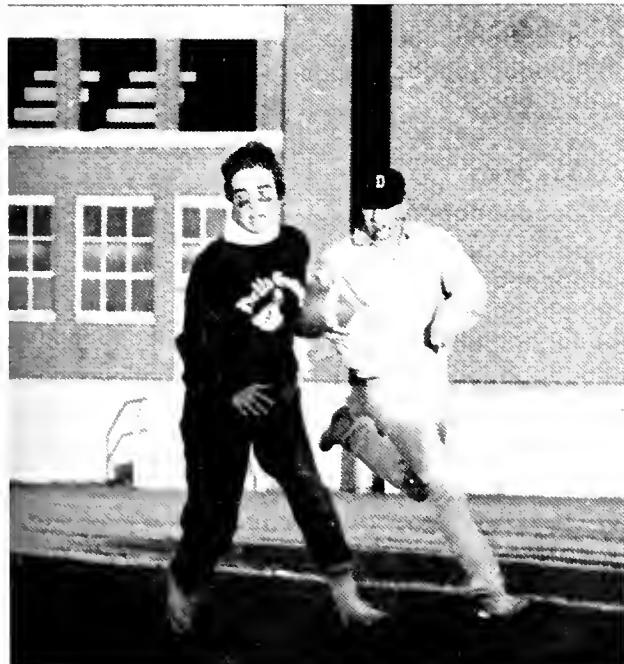

There's nothing like a blazing bonfire in a secluded field to warm romantic souls on a crisp fall night.

They had watermelons to bust, and that's just what they did at this fraternity party.

Beotnik parties were all the rage in the subterranean hideouts of froaternity houses.

Lennie McColloch runs the ball during DG-KKG Powder Bowl Game.

The Koppa 11 met the DG stalwarts to vie for the coveted title.

With Panhel the Fall Round of Dances Began . . .

The campus stepped out for on "Old Fashioned Walk" at the Panhellenic dance.

During the intermission couples gathered in the UB lounge to chat and have pictures taken.

KTK Meant Dancing Until One . . .

Craig Peebles discovers that KTK has its advantages as he escorts the queen, Katie Tweedle.

A southern plantation setting and the music of Les Elgart, the nation's number one dance band, sparked KTK's "Sophisticated Swing."

Dr. Chester Pennington was featured speaker during Religious Evaluation Week.

RE Week Provoked Serious Thought . . .

Orchesis gave "I am Waiting," an analysis of present day commitment

Father Daaley led a discussion on Roman Catholicism.

Chapel Hour Provided Inspiration, Meditation . . .

After his chapel address noted actor and art connoisseur, Vincent Price, inspired budding artists during an informal talk in the Art Center.

Edward Condon, noted physicist, challenged students to work for peace.

Agnes de Mille, distinguished choreographer and writer, held an informal talk on her chapel speech, "The Theater in America Today."

SDX "Guys and Dolls," acclaimed one of the finest dramatic presentations ever seen at DePauw, demonstrated professional polish.

Curtain Call! Thunderous Applause Signified Completion of a Successful Performance . . .

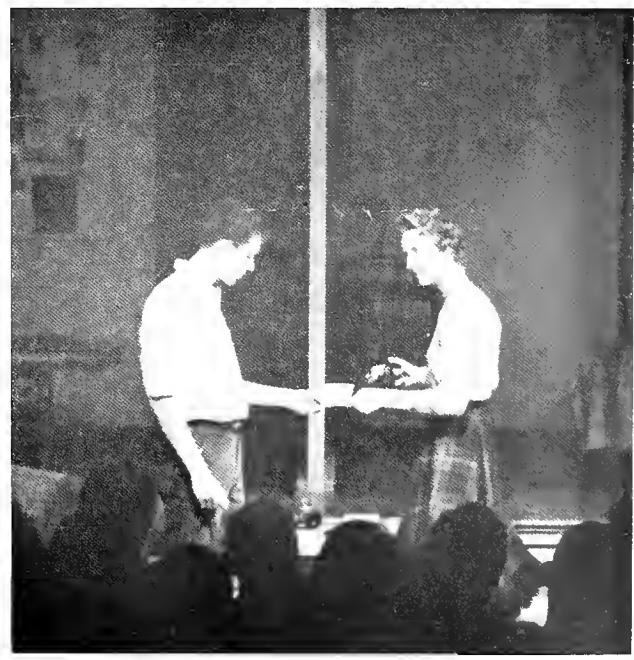

Excellent acting with moments of tragedy and delight brought this year's Manan Revue, "Steppin Out," to life.

Opera Workshop presentation of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" captured the spirit of Christmas.

Art Theater's interpretation of a women's bridge game was hilarious.

"Tea and Sympathy," a Broadway hit, presented by Wesley Players

Little Theater Offered a Variety of Dramatic Productions . . .

Phil Haines, Jack Olson, and Liz Doeller are pictured in a scene from "The Glass Menagerie," a play of symbolism.

Depicting the tensions of years of hiding, "The Diary of Anne Frank" spotlighted Vera Ferris in the leading role.

Husband and wife team, Jan, President of Naiad, and Al Kishman, expertly performed a thrilling water ballet duet.

Artistic Expression Found A Variety of Outlets . . .

Opening number from Naiad's "Wettest Show on Earth" introduced a circus theme.

Orchesis members interpreted the ballad "John Henry" in a modern vein with bizarre and precise rhythmic patterns.

The finale of Orchesis Winter Concert, "Bartok Suite," expressed a variety of musical moods, ranging from gaiety to melancholy.

Intermission time found freshmen FIC goers "Under a Spell" from voodoo trickery and the music of the Cottonpickers.

Weekend Revelry Rocketed Sky High . . .

A top military secret was revealed by Ralph Deater at Mil Ball when he crowned Molly Mitchell.

Golddiggers Ball meant long hours of preparation for the eve when the girls wine and dine the men

Hours of Work Brought Destination Danceland ...

The coming of spring meant house dances galore with Monmouth Duo, Alpha Duo, and Miami Triad

ADS-SDX Brought Top-Flight Jazz Artist to Campus . . .

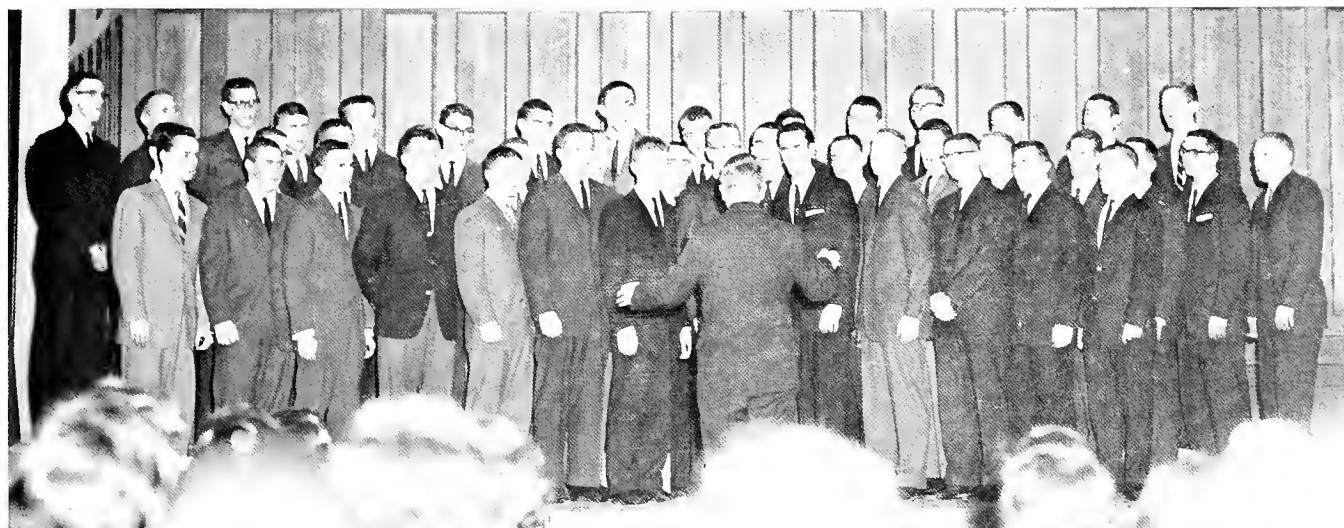

Some Gridiron guests got to see themselves as others see them

Meharry was filled to capacity—the stage was even packed with spectators—for the ADS Jazz Concert featuring Ahmad Jamal

Greek Week Featured Fraternity-Sorority Sing . . .

Climbing Greek Week, was the sorority-fraternity sing with the Alpha Gam's singing their rendition of "Jubilation T. Cornpone."

The stalwart men of Delta Kappa Epsilon opened the men's portion of the program with the "Deke Drinking Song" and "Stout Hearted Men."

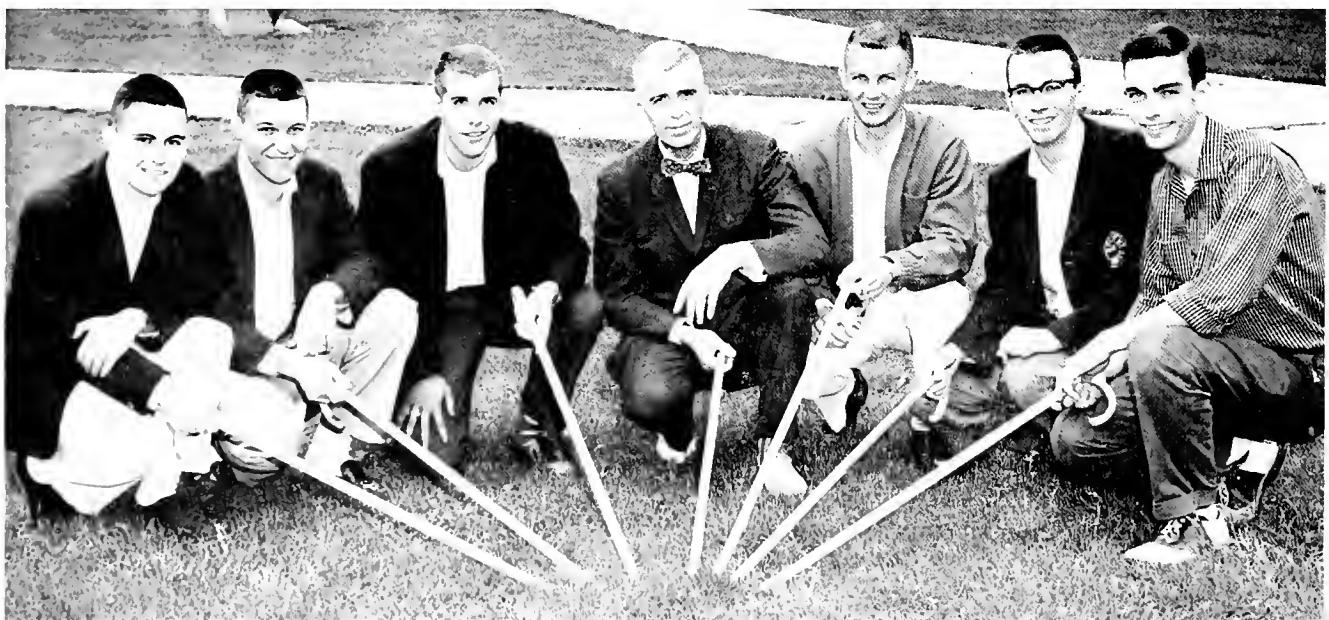

Members of Gold Key get canes ready for topping ceremony.

Award winners announced during chapel were Leigh Hollis, Pulliam Scholarship; Al Walker, Walker Cup; and Tom Walker, Serman Award.

Meharry Was Jammed to Capacity as Award Winners Were Named at Recognition Chapel . . .

Recipients of Gold Key's taps were Dick Davis, Bill Woods, Faris Chesley, Mr. E. K. Williams, Ted Carsan, Dick Havlik, and Paul Sabine.

Shapely contestants line up for bathing suit judging.

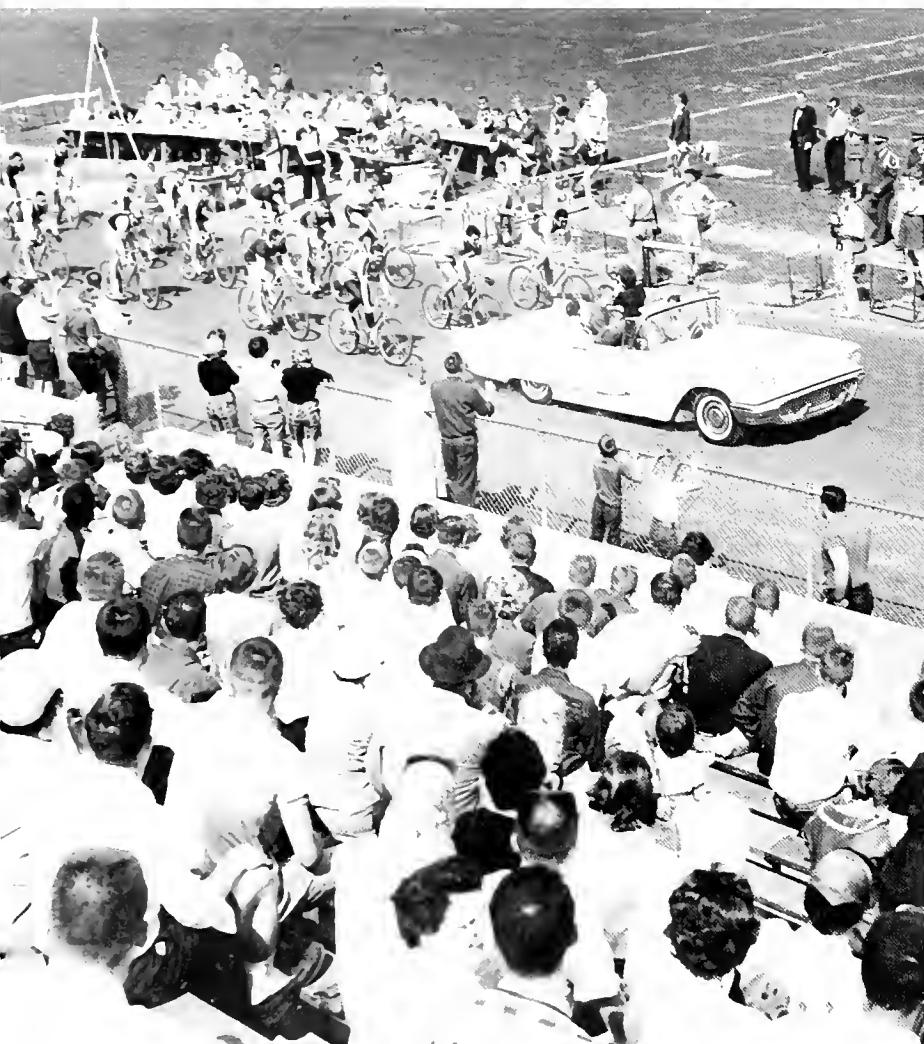

Poise and quick wits are essential when answering the questions.

Miss DePauw Was Selected for the First Time . . .

A delighted scream escapes as Susan O'Hare hears that she is Miss DePauw of 1959.

Some Cyclists Practiced Year-Round For the Little 500 Bicycle Race . . .

The pace car leads cyclists past the judges stand as the first lap gets under way.

The Lambda Chi team, three-time winners, receives the elaborate trophy from President Humbert.

Stopping to catch his wind, a weary rider gulps oxygen thankfully before setting out on another lap

Not to be outdone by the men, some fun-loving females hopped on tricycles for a race of their own

Navigators guided blind-folded peddlers to the finish line.

Preceding the race, two Go-Cart racers thrilled the spectators

Rae Lahti, switching from her role as President of AWS to May Queen, and her escort, Randall Ripley, the President of the Student Senate, beam as she is presented with her satin robe and a crown of spring flowers by President Humbert.

May Day Featured Capping and Crowning . . .

Excitement mounted when the traditional daisy chain, composed of two junior women from each living unit, began the queen's processional.

"When Martar Board goes a-capping . . ." This is who they chose to don the baards with silver tassels—11 new members from the junior class.

Martar Board girls who invaded the YW breakfast to cap members build up suspense as they tend their knitting.

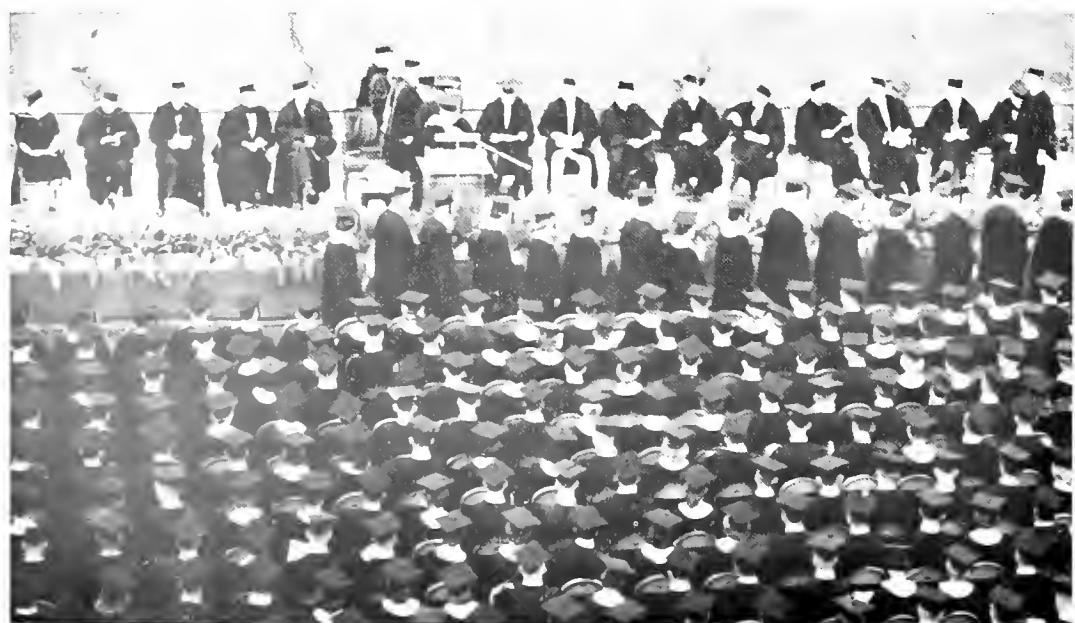

The Queen of May holds court, surrounded by her lovely attendants—a tribute to spring.

President Humbert—ready smile, hand in pocket, deep, resonant voice—is a familiar sight to DePauw students.

Doctor, lawyer, Indian chief—well not exactly, but there are very few things Dr. Russell J. Humbert has not done. DePauw's fifteenth president is well known for his ready smile and dynamic personality. A tireless worker—author, minister, speaker, promoter, traveler, and father—his concern is always for DePauw and the people connected with it, whether he is dedicating a new building, attending a conference, or supporting the students in university affairs.

Heading Dr. Humbert's agenda this year was the launching of the second phase of the GDP—a time-consuming project to which he gave himself wholeheartedly. Recognized as a leader in university administration, he worked to strengthen DePauw's liberal arts courses and develop the harais program. His dedication to Christian principles was evidenced by the performance of unselfish service for all with every act he undertook.

President Humbert Supported Proposed Student Court . . .

Dr. Russell J. Humbert pauses in the midst of a busy schedule for a rare moment of relaxation.

Since Dr. Humbert must spend much time on the road, he welcomes a day of rest at home.

Administrators Tackled

Dr. Robert Farber, Dean of the University, handles the academic aspects at DePauw, working closely with the faculty and students.

Dean of Students, Dr. Lawrence Riggs, coordinates all activities concerning campus life and does personal counseling with students.

The man with the phenomenal memory for names is Dr. John Wittich, Director of Admissions and Director of University Scholarships.

Mr. Norman J. Knights, Director of the Greater DePauw Program, is in charge of the financial program and all public relations.

Herculean Tasks . . .

Catching the three Assistant Deans, Miss Barnhart, Mr. Wright, and Miss Scheuer, at a free moment is no easy task

No, they're not twins—they are Mr. Louis Fontaine, Assistant to the Director of Admissions, and Paul Gilbert, Admissions Counselor, who talk with prospective students and their parents.

Dr. Orville Davis, Director of Church Relations, directs campus religious activities and church relations for DPU.

Responsible for bringing outstanding speakers to chapel through the year is Dr. Jerome Hixson, Dean of Chapels.

Mr. Robert Crouch, Secretary of the Alumni Association, is the man who keeps alums aware of what's going on.

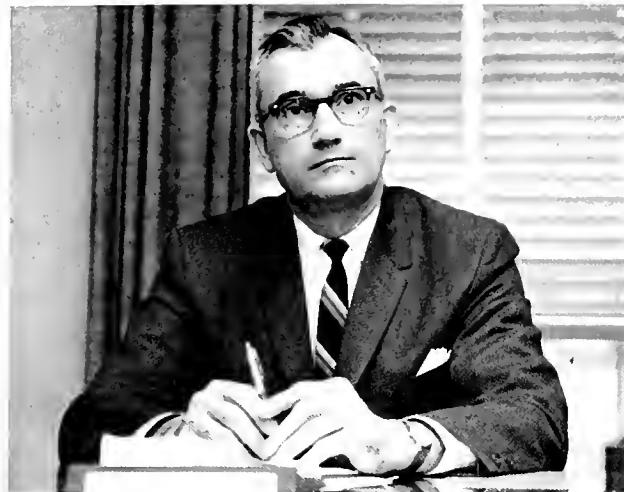

Acting in the office of Director of the News Bureau, Mr. Don Tourtelot publicizes important campus happenings.

Dr. Deward Smythe and staff handle the university's money and financial affairs in the Comptroller's Office.

Arranging class registration and making permanent records are the duties of Mrs. Value Williams, Registrar.

Dr. John Nonovsky, called "Dr. John" by all the students, directs the numerous activities carried on at the Student Union.

Handling and planning all aspects of food services are the tasks which Mrs. Elsie Miller oversees as the Food Service Director.

University Security Officers, Mr. George Hecko and Mr. Grover Vaughn, have the job of enforcing all university rules and regulations.

Besides its basic program which acquaints underclassmen with elementary aeronautical science and its advanced program which provides future Air Force officers with such needed skills as communication, global geography, and a Flight Instruction Program, an integral part of AFROTC is extra-curricular activity—i.e., drill team, band, rifle squad, and visitation flights to Air Force bases.

This year, in order to further competitive spirit, the department initiated the Falcon Award to be presented to the squadron with the most military-like conduct during weekly drills.

AFROTC Drilled in Rain or Snow . . .

In the not-too-distant future these cadets may be flying a jet similar to the one pictured.

"An artist is a dreamer . . ." with thoughts of the far away places which Dr. Winsey so vividly describes.

Art Center Teemed with Activity . . .

Dr. A. Winsey, Dept. Head; Mr. W. Jones; Mr. R. French; Mr. G. Boone.

Everything from English classes to Sunday school classes met in the Art Center this year. These meetings were just a part of the Art Department's concentration on an integrated program with the campus and the community.

Open from morning until closing hours, the Art Center was the scene of various outside activities. Saturday mornings were devoted to art classes for children. Other activities included guest lectures, demonstrations, adult evening classes, and exhibitions.

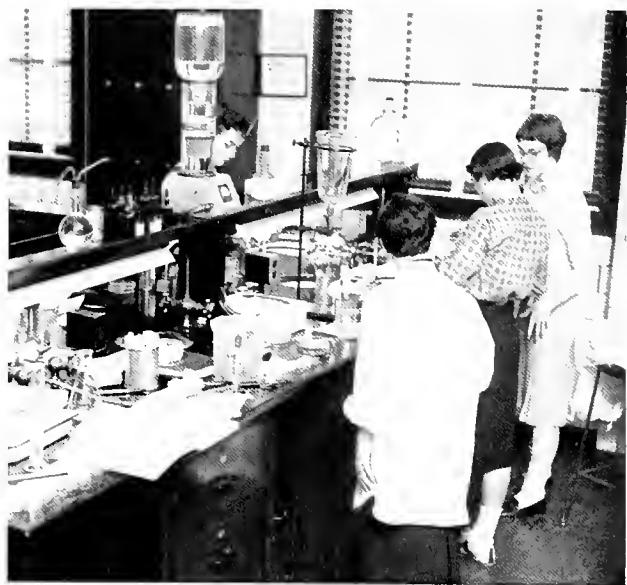

An outstanding feature this year was the increase of art exhibitions of national importance with a complete annual schedule which was sent to high schools, colleges and universities, alumni, and members of the community. Among the visiting artists and critics was Vincent Price, well-known actor and curator of art.

Art projects did not cease with the coming of summer, for during the months of July and August Dr. Winsey conducted a European tour for which it was possible to earn six hours of credit in art history.

Botany, Bacteriology Worked With Plants, Molds . . .

Changes may creep through the University, but the principles and offerings of the Botany and Bacteriology Department remain tried and true as professors continue to strive toward their aim of preparing students for positions and graduate work.

During a resourceful, work-filled summer, members of the department continued their research, wrote books and pamphlets, acted as panelists for scientific programs, and attended scientific congresses. Then in September they settled down to a year of lecturing and issuing lab equipment. While general botany students learned the importance of plant life and landscape students designed garden arrangements, embryo technologists and pre-meds absorbed microscope technique as they traced the lives of bacteria.

These students are learning how to grow a culture.

Our secretarial students practice their skills in an office complete with everything except a bass's lap to sit on.

Mrs. A. Evans; Mrs. E. Huggard.

Secretaries Acquired Mastery of Gregg . . .

Courses in the Secretarial Science School here at DePauw offer a good investment for the future. This field is very practical for those interested in the many aspects of a business occupation. No majors are offered in this field, but students are free to choose this as a minor or an area major. For example, medical courses and secretarial courses can be combined for an area major. A more general course is the Secretarial Practices Course which combines general office procedures with secretarial work with tax forms, documents, banking, and ethics of filing. It also teaches the proper use of business machines. For those interested in teaching, the methods course is excellent. In the last six years there has been a complete turnover of machines as new equipment is added each year. The Ray O. West library provides tape recordings for those who are interested in practicing their shorthand.

Dr. J. Fulmer, Dept. Head Dr. H. Golding Dr. H. Burkett, Dr. J. Ricketts; Dr. D. Cook.

Chemistry Majors Lived in Labs . . .

From a maze of test tubes and beakers emerge chemistry majors, traditionally few in number but high in quality, many of whom go on to top graduate schools. During the past summer the staff was actively engaged in various projects: for example, Dr. Cook conducted a Science Institute for high school and elementary teachers, and Dr. Fulmer participated in National Science Foundation work at Carleton and Defiance. Aiding the staff in instruction this year was a group of graduate students who livened the research atmosphere.

The chemistry major's lament: you can synthesize it in the lab, but you can't drink it.

Those big boxes protruding in the econ office are no parts of a do-it-yourself statue of Bernard Baruch, but a new visual aid machine. This viewgraph is being used for the first time by the Department of Economics. While visual education has been used in other departments on campus as a method of instruction, this technique is an innovation for the economics staff.

The Department of Economics continues to emphasize liberal arts courses, while restraining the courses in business education. Despite the pressure to emphasize business education or to separate the departments of economics and business education, the tradition of economics first and business second is still being maintained. Enough courses in business are being offered, however, so that economic majors will be more than prepared for graduate study in economics or business administration.

STANDING: Dr. C. Green, Dept Head. SEATED: Miss M. Holland, Dr. D. Orlosky Mr. C. Moore.

Students Were Taught How to Teach . . .

Although the courses in the Education Department remain essentially the same year after year, they are continually changing in the respect that the presentation of material is geared to each new group of students who walk through the doors of Speech Hall. This year found a new face in the person of Dr. Donald Orlosky.

Educational courses are well-rounded in the respect that the student learns the whys and wherefores of teaching during lectures and in local classrooms. The department has continued many of its old traditions this year—in a bigger and better way. The elementary education display in the UB was greatly expanded in size and scope. SEA, too, has increased its membership and taken on numerous new projects.

"Willy the Worm learned to read—so can you," said "el ed" majors when they presented this practice project to their class.

English Professors Brought Literature to Life . . .

Through the years the English Department has disclosed to students the pleasure of literature, the beauty of expression, and the thrill of words coming to life. To assure knowledge of literature and skill in composition, English majors divide their time between composition and literature, attaining a remarkable balance between the two.

Along experimental lines, Dr. Bergman, department head, directed a Junior Semester Abroad Program during which fifteen students studied under foreign professors. This year the department witnessed the dedication of the Pence Seminar Room, gift of former students in appreciation for Professor Emeritus Pence's contribution to effective writing.

Scholars ponder meaning of a passage in the literary atmosphere of Pence Seminar Room

This group, faced with the task of mapping, tries desperately to recall where they were on the last field trip.

Geologists and Geographers Paced and Mapped...

Last summer members of the Geology and Geography Department lent their services to several institutions across the country. Department head, Dr. Bieber, instructed high school science teachers at the University of North Dakota, and in his leisure hours studied formations near the Red River—which, any of Mr. Loring's geography students can tell you, is the only large river in the United States that flows north. Mr. Schneider devoted a considerable amount of time to research at Florida State University, while Mr. Madison taught in the Science Institute conducted for elementary science teachers, held here at DePauw.

Perhaps ideas gained from these diverse summer projects inspired the staff to undertake the revision of their curriculum. At any rate, there are several changes in the wind—changes which will be instigated next fall. Certainly no one will deny that change is essential in scientific study, but it is hoped that these first-year students will never be allowed to miss that once-taken, never-forgotten hike around Turkey Run.

Mark Twain's comment that "a classic is something that everybody wants to have read and nobody wants to read" is displayed in the Classical Languages and German Department. Through courses in the classics in English, Greek, and Latin, students do read and learn to appreciate classical writings. Seminars in Greek and Latin offer majors the opportunity to do individual projects and extensive research.

Besides Courses in Greek Social Thought, mythology, and Cicero's Philosophical Works, the department offers translation courses in both Russian and German. A major in German may be obtained. However, although tentative plans are being made to include third year Russian, only two years are now offered. Although the content of the department lies in the east, members of the staff keep abreast of new developments such as language labs, which they now use for elementary Latin.

Historians Worked on History of DePauw . . .

Besides lecturing on the growth of liberalism in England and the basic ideas of the Monroe Doctrine, members of the History Department function in various ways outside the classroom. Dr. Crandall, retiring this year after a long career at DePauw, frequently speaks to Civil War groups and is also on the Governor's committee for the war's centennial. Activities of other members range from writing articles for national publications to doing research in England.

On a more local scale, some of the history professors are compiling material for a book on DePauw's history, commemorating the school's 125th anniversary in 1962.

These students, enthralled by Dr. Crandall's vivid account of the Civil War, can't make themselves leave after class.

Home Economics Kept Up with New Trends . . .

To keep up with the ultra of modern living, DePauw's Home Economics courses are the answer. They are devised to help the students learn to be useful in any situation that might arise in their home and family or their career. Of use to many people is the program concerning food and housing for the handicapped homemaker and the aged group, which teaches girls how to be useful in the simplest way. For girls planning to be married, the Home Ec. Department is building up an appliance kitchen for the Meal Planning and Serving class. This idea is useful in that it can be more economical for young couples, and it explains the uses and cares of modern implements.

Some of the home ec. majors even learned to cook food (that people could eat!) in those pots.

Members of an astronomy class viewed a total eclipse at Observatory Hill.

Although math majors are few at DePauw, there are those who have become adept at the use of calculus and analytic geometry nevertheless. The department will expand in the next few years as a result of planned developments to augment the engineering program. At present there are three channels of study for math majors—the three year pre-engineering program, life insurance at

Philosophy and Religion Analyzed Beliefs, Ideas...

Three lectures concerning art, Christianity, and Existentialism were given in October by Doctors Erich and Erica Dinkler from Bonn University in Germany. These were a highlight of the year for the Philosophy and Religion Department. It was possible for this department to bring the Dinklers to speak at DePauw through the Eli Lilly Foundation grant. The Basic Beliefs course, begun last year and expanded this year, is a result of this same grant.

An addition to the staff this year is Mr. Klemke, who is teaching classes in Introductory Philosophy, Philosophy of Science, Philosophical Analysis, and various classes in Logic.

"I think; therefore, I am? Or is it, I am, therefore, I think? Help! Dr. Compton, I can't even think!"

Shades of the three musketeers! En garde! Then a lunge forward and a quick thrust.

Students Kept Trim in Physical Education . . .

Traditions are still in the making for the Physical Education Department, although it has been long established as an important part of DePauw. The new wrestling team is embarking on its second full year with an excellent record behind it. Two growing traditions are the 'D' Men's Luncheon and the awarding of the 'D' blanket, both eleven years old. Younger members of this family are the All Sports Banquet and the Athletic Luncheon, started four years ago.

This season Coach Tom Mont came over from Maryland University and brought a new style of football from the East to add life to the Tigers. Also came Assistant Coach Katula from Ohio State and Miss Beckman for the women's division. The program retains its basic purpose of keeping students in trim to meet the demands of scholarship.

STANDING: Mr. R. Harvey; Mr. T. Mont; Mr. T. Katula; Miss M. Miller; Mr. E. Snavely; Mr. C. Erdmann SEATED: Miss M. Carnick; Miss J. Beckman; Miss F. Funchess; Mr. E. McCall; Miss E. Mitchell. LEADER: Dr. J. Loveless, Dept. Head.

This year the Physics Department is being analyzed in preparation for expected growth in the next year or two. Additions planned are a new building and increased staff, both of which will greatly enlarge the capabilities of the department and perhaps double its graduates. Students and faculty members are being interviewed to determine how the department can best adapt to the academic climate at DePouw, and careful plans are being laid to insure the best possible curriculum and attract a larger number of students. This development is in keeping with the growing technical demands of the world today.

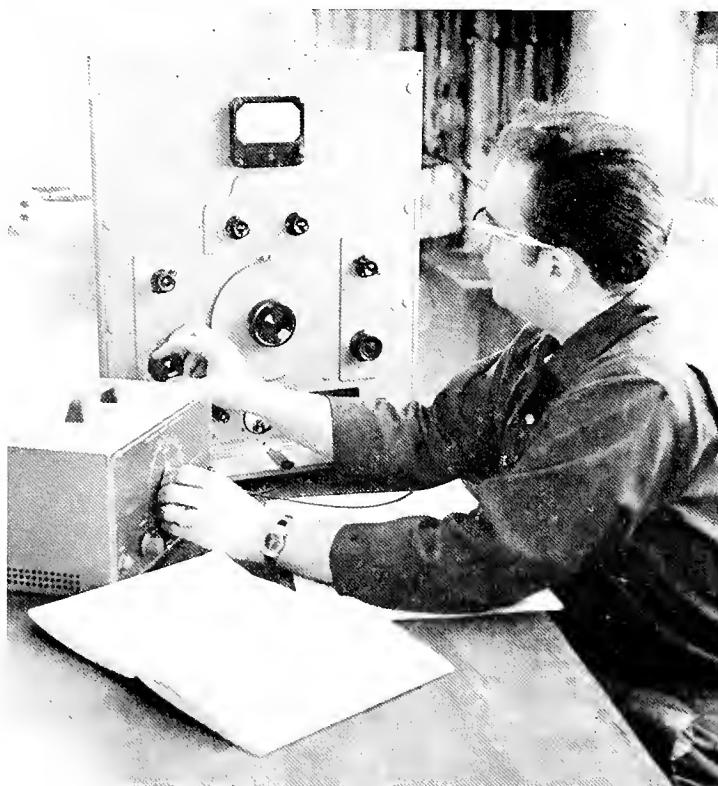

Dr. Warren is new this year, having come from the University of Maryland and summer work at Los Alamos. Dr. Correll is yet on leave at the High Altitude Observatory in Colorado. Two visiting physicists this year are carrying out the evaluation of departmental status.

Mr. B. Danner; Dr. O. Smith; Dr. J. Warren, Dr. A. Sprague.

Physics Department Evaluated Its Program . . .

Your guess is as good as ours. Ask a physics major.

The rapidly approaching national elections was a topic of friendly controversy in Political Science Seminars.

Political Science Expanded Range of Courses . . .

Reverting to a policy dropped from their program several years ago, the Political Science Department has resumed honors work. The last two semesters found two students engaged in this program which required an A-B average in political science and a two point overall average. Another change in the department occurred second semester with the introduction of the beginning theory course, Essentials of Political Science.

Among summer activities for members of the department was the direction of a workshop in state and local government at Indiana University. Other professors taught in a co-program for 25 high school social studies and English teachers. Dr. Early completed the manuscript for a new book.

Psych Majors Explored The Human Mind . . .

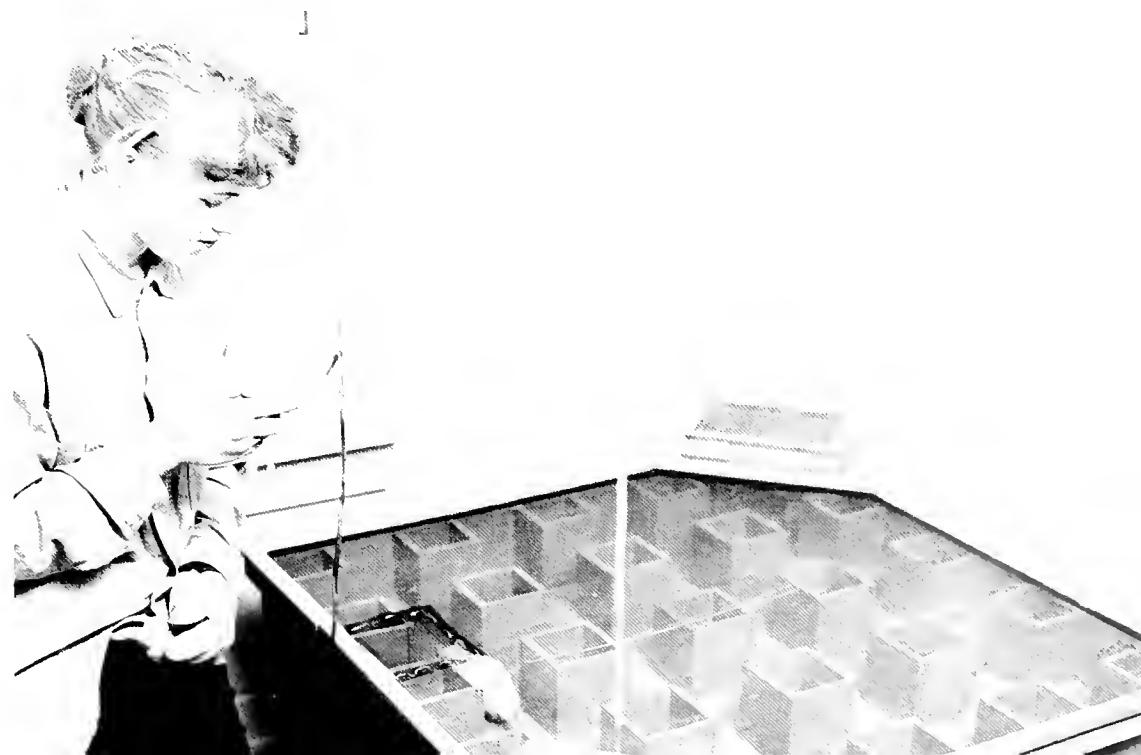

The Bureau of Testing and Research consults students and conducts research projects. J. Reynolds; Dr. J. Exner; J. Wright.

"You should have seen what we did in psych lab today!" is the cry of approximately 750 students who take one of the many psychology courses ranging from freshman courses in mental hygiene to senior seminars. The strange goings-on in labs are old stuff to the senior majors, some of whom are lab assistants. They are all busy with the required senior research thesis, which is good preparation for the large number of them who will go on to graduate school from DePauw's Psychology Department. This department usually has an average of over 100 majors.

An active Psi Chi chapter, the national honorary fraternity for psychology students, and the Psych Club, open to all interested students, round out the department's activities.

Jo Wood, a senior psych major, runs this poor little white rat through a maze for her seminar project

Conversation Stressed in Romance Languages . . .

DePauw's Romance Language Department this year is stressing particularly the use of the spoken language in the classroom. The "new deal" in the department consists of more direct oral contact with the language, rather than the older system of strict grammar instruction alone. In accordance with the new approach to Romance Languages, a new teacher has been added to the staff of Spanish instructors. He is Professor Luis Bustamante, formerly the Bolivian Consul in Chicago. Bustamante, the most recent addition to the staff of the Romance Language Department, speaks nothing but Spanish in his advanced classes. A relatively new tradition in the Romance Language Department is that of many romance language instructors spending their summers either in foreign lands or in the study of their respective languages in the United States. In keeping with this tradition, Dr. Wachs spent the summer studying and traveling in France. Dr. Carl was employed as an interpreter of French for the United States Government.

Prof. Bustamante holds a special night class for conversational Spanish.

If you see a group of professors all drinking coffee together in The Duck, chances are this is the Sociology Department's staff meeting. A tradition of informality and congeniality is maintained in these free-style staff meetings. Dr. McIntyre prefers to be thought of as a chairman or coordinator rather than a head, keeping up the department's democratic reputation.

There has been one addition and subtraction in the Sociology Department. Mr. Stinchcomb is now a part-time instructor and student at Florida State, while Arturo de Hoyos of Michigan State is a new staff member.

Second semester a new course, Power Structures in Society, was introduced into the department. It is an inter-departmental seminar in which both the Philosophy and Sociology Departments combine to present a study of different aspects of the seeking and securing of power.

Dr. W. McIntyre, Dept. Head, Dr. J. Reiling; Mr. A. de Hoyos, Dr. P. Thomas.

Sociology Emphasized Democratic Ideals . . .

Speech Offered Variety Of Vocal Outlets . . .

Not only the budding actors, orators, and television announcers, but most of the DePauw campus is acquainted with the excellent Department of Speech. Freshmen became acquainted with department instructors while satisfying their two hour graduation requirement in Speech or Basic Communications. Highlight of the year was the announcement of an honors course opening next year for juniors and seniors. In addition, Speech 101 and 102 were revised. The department, under the direction of Dr. Ross, kept pace with the times last summer by holding a speech conference at Shades State Park.

Dr. Ross gives Susie Hufford and Steve Barnett a few ideas for their parts in "Our Town."

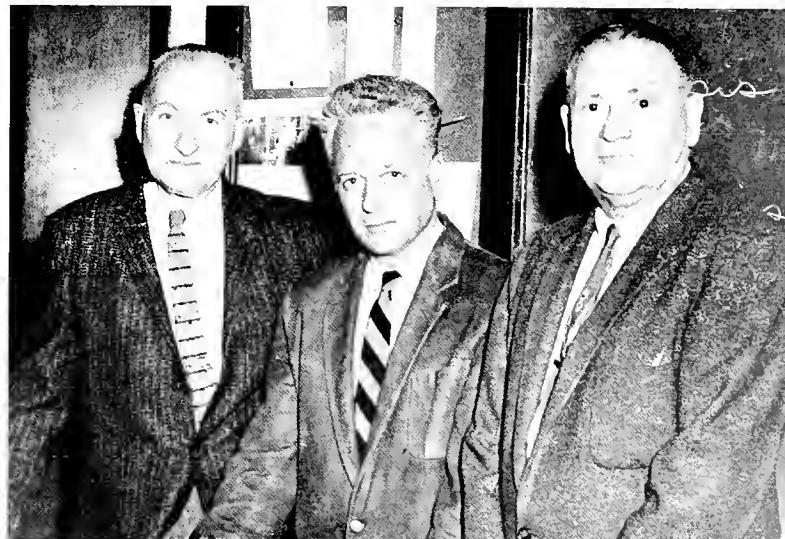

It takes a zoologist's quick eye to catch the movements of the microscopic animals

Zoologists Discussed and Dissected . . .

To realize the extent of our earth Thoreau once said that "if people would only climb a tree and look around, they would see what the world really looks like." This is true as many Zoology students will vouch for from past experiences. An addition to the Zoo department will soon be taking place. Two art majors along with many pictures from the ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA have been very helpful in producing an elaborate and very well illustrated revision of the Zoology text by Dr. Hickman, which will appear next fall. Dr. Hickman has also been writing an informative article on "Pymentation" for the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES. This has been a busy department as another member of its staff spent much time the past summer collecting Salamanders in the Smoky Mountains.

Music of Singing Strings, Voices Filled the Air . . .

Recitals, practicing, choir and instrumental rehearsals dipped deep into music majors' spare time. Ancient music devotees joined Collegium Musicum and played Biblical recordings. A much larger project was the Opera Workshop which this year presented three operas. Specially talented seniors became candidates for the newly instituted "Performing Certificate." Three professors enriched their knowledge of music by study and performances in Europe. Campus-wide participation in these many activities helped make music at DePauw an ever-widening field of study and enjoyment.

Nursing School Enrollment Leaped Upward . . .

Laboratory study leads to the impressive coping ceremony.

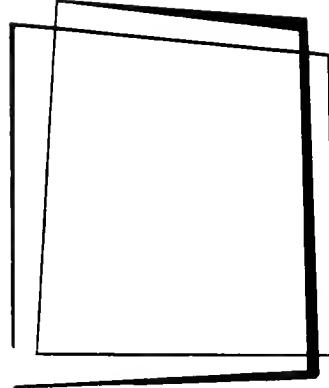

Blossoming forth brighter and bigger is the nursing school, which has grown from an original five to sixty-nine in number and activities. Its present size now makes it more of an actual school, rather than a seeming few girls with an unusual major.

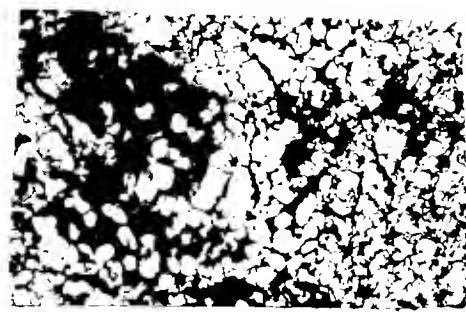

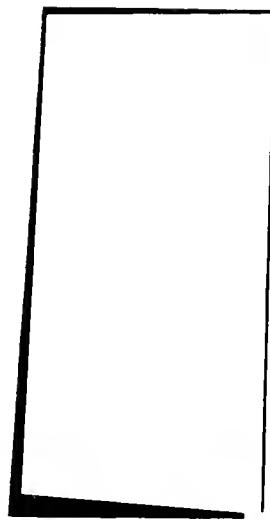

Nurses-to-be look forward to the future when the Indianapolis offices will be moved, so that the entire faculty may work together. They reflect on the past—the five 1959 graduates working from New York to California. Giving prestige to the present was one of the students who was this year's President of the Central District of the Association of Student Nurses.

On the whole, DePauw student nurses gain much additional experience and education from their unique four-year educational program.

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Senate officers hurry to a hearing with President Humbert during the Friar incident.

Student Senate, the only body at DePauw in which every living unit has a representative voice in campus affairs, planned and carried out a full agenda. A few projects were sponsoring the Student Conference on University Affairs, presenting the Prom, and working on the Curriculum Committee. Money-raising projects were petitioned and OK'd through the Senate, while senior members (juniors and seniors) participated on the Student Affairs Committee.

Status of the Senate was the campus' brow-furrowing topic of conversation this year. Controversy began with the Blackfriars Incident in which the Senate took action by presenting a petition to the Administration. Out of this tangle of ethics and hard feelings came an idea—the student court. A Student Educational Policy Committee was formed and the Student-Administration-Faculty Council was rejuvenated.

Association of Women Students

During the summer preceding their freshmen year, caeds-to-be are deluged with helpful letters from AWS and a booklet, SUZY CUES, which acquaints them with the Association of Women Students. On their arrival in the fall, they automatically became members of AWS.

Through its Senior Board and three areas—Senate, Dorm Staff, and Projects Board—AWS plays a big part in the life of all DePauw women. Such entertaining events as Goldiggers Ball, Field Day, and Monon Revue are planned and carried out by Projects Board. Introducing freshmen to their big sister is another service of Projects Board. Besides sponsoring special projects and orienting freshmen to dorm and campus life, AWS—through Senate—formulates all campus rules for women.

Kappa Tau Kappa

Kappa Tau Kappa, interfraternity council, finds its biggest job is the year-long governing of men's rush. Its main purpose of building better fraternity relationships has led to the annual sponsorship of AWS-KTK Field Day; Panhel-KTK Greek Week; and the Shade's Conference for house presidents, KTK executives, and faculty members. A progressing group, it was granted disciplinary powers over fraternity matters this year.

F.I.C.

This year's industrial Freshman Interfraternity Council, composed of a representative elected from every men's living unit, worked hard to secure class unity. This unity was exemplified by the abduction of the Phi Delt pledge class for the annual pat-burning in the late fall, the presentation of a successful F.I.C. dance in January, and a spring project, beneficial to both the campus and the town.

Panhellenic Council

Those girls in green are members of DePauw's Panhellenic Council, composed of a junior and senior member from each of the ten sororities. The dorm staff coordinator, a member of the council, represents the freshman women's viewpoints. The council meets in the sorority houses every other Thursday for dinner and a business meeting.

Panhel's chief function is regulating and evaluating rush. During rush senior members act as neutral counsels for the freshmen, while junior members guide rushees to the houses during regulated calling. In addition to rush, Panhel conducts workshops for house officers.

The agenda for this year included the fall dance, "Old Fashioned Walk"; Greek Week and the inter-fraternity sing co-sponsored by Panhel and KTK; and scholarships for DePauw women.

WRA directs all women's sports activities, providing recreation for the women of DePauw through participation in individual and team sports.

Beginning in the fall the Hockey Club participated in inter-school competition. With bad weather, activities moved inside for the annual volleyball tournament and swim meet. Awards and individual honors were conferred upon WRA members and winning living units at the annual spring banquet.

Intramural Board

IM board handles all the work connected with intramural games. At the beginning of the year they schedule games and, as the season advances, they face the problems of caring for equipment and securing referees. Besides the trophies awarded in each sport, the board presents the All-IM cup and the Winkler award for best sportsmanship.

SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS

There was no complaint about the early hour at YW's breakfast. Maybe the topic, Marriage, awakened their interest

YWCA

By aiding those on campus, in the community, and abroad, the YWCA strives to fulfill its goal—encouraging the continuance of religious ideals and preparing women by practical experience to fulfill a significant place in their future communities.

Composed of five senior board members and a junior board made up of twelve girls, who serve as co-chairmen of five commissions, the YWCA provides many opportunities for service, discussion and good times. Entertaining old and young folks in Greencastle, conducting campus-wide vespers services and workshops for chaplains, and discussing current affairs are some of the ways members contribute. Board members discuss the question of what DPU women can do to put their faith into action and brainstorm to find ways to make YW more effective on campus.

Bi-annual book exchanges are one of the UB's student services.

Union Building

One of the most successful of the UB's many activities is the Little 500 race, which last year received nationwide publicity in LIFE magazine. Throughout the year the UB sponsors exhibits by campus artists. This year saw a dream become a reality when a UB-promoted ski trip headed for Cabrafae during mid-semester vocation. Foreign student banquets, TGIF parties, and outdoor movies are part of the wide and varied program of the UB.

But the Union Building is not only concerned with immediate entertainment, they also plan for the future. Hence the profits from the Little 500 race were donated to the Greencastle swimming pool fund, so that students may enjoy a cooling dip come warm weather.

The annual election of the President is an occasion for campus-wide political campaigning. Other positions on the UB board are filled by appointment, according to applicant's service and interest.

Music, sports, entertainment, and erudition mark the daily broadcasting schedule of DePauw's FM radio station, WGRE. As one of the nation's first educational FM stations, it is a member of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters. WGRE is a part of the Speech Department with its head, Dr. Harold Ross, Program Director, and Miss Elizabeth Turnell, Assistant Program Director.

One sophomore from each living unit makes up the membership of Spex Club. Their main purpose is promoting school spirit in all intercollegiate contests during DPU football and basketball seasons. This is done by sponsoring pep rallies, a pep band, snake dances, and sack hops. This year during the fall they held a street dance.

SPEX

Orientation staff briefs freshmen on the intricacies of DPU living.

Orientation Staff

After being swamped by University mail all summer, the freshmen are apt to be confused when they first set foot on the campus and are caught up in the whirl of registration and rush. Fortunately they can turn to their orientation staff group leader who has been carefully provided with all the answers—or almost all. Many long meetings during the previous spring have prepared the Orientation Staff members for instructing and counseling the latest additions to the DePauw campus.

Since strict rush rules prevent freshmen from talking to upperclassmen other than a brief hello, the group leader acts as a neutral link between them and the rest of the student body. He is a friend who can freely converse on any subject except, of course, his own affiliation. And he assists and supplements KTK by helping freshmen men during rush. Once rush and orientation week are over, the freshman and his leader do not necessarily part company, for many lasting friendships are usually formed.

Women's Dorm Staff

Dorm Staff work keeps the DePauw coed on her toes learning about the University's administration, the inner workings of the women's residences, and getting a well-rounded view of campus activities. Training begins with a retreat to McCormick's Creek state park and group discussions lead by Miss Barnhart and her residence counseling staff. The Dorm Staff member acts as advisor, confidant and friend of the girls on her floor group.

Summer vacations find the staff members busy making name tags, door tags, and decorations for the dorms. After the staff member's work in the dorm is officially finished, she very often remains close to her girls and the activities in the dorm.

Men's Dorm Staff

The members of Men's Dorm Staff, consisting of six staff members and one student advisor, provide fledgling males with advice about aspects of life on DePauw's campus and orient Florence Hall men to their individual responsibilities in group living. They also assist in hall government, social affairs, and scholastic and athletic activities.

After training sessions once a week from March until the end of May, they move into Flossie for the first two weeks of the fall semester to serve as hall advisors for six weeks. Election of permanent dorm officers signifies the close of Dorm Staff's stay. Then freshmen assume the leadership of their hall, and Dorm Staff members act as advisors.

Little Theater, Business Managers

Herold T. Ross, Director; Jane Sturgis; Carol Kearney; Dave Pomeroy; Marcia Mead.

Little Theater, the mainstay of university dramatics, gives aspiring actors and actresses a chance to take part in major productions. Among the traditional four plays produced this year were THE GLASS MENAGERIE and THE DIARY OF ANNE FRANK.

Art Theater is a loosely-knit organization which presents plays in an experimental vein. Its purpose is to promote interest in different and better drama, giving opportunities to students with dramatic interests to do independent work in acting and directing.

HONORARIES

Alpha Lambda Delta

Members of Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary fraternity for ambitious freshman women who achieved a 2.5 average during their first semester or an accumulative average of 2.5, offered their services as ushers on May Day, acted as hostesses at the freshman tea, and served as guides for Scholarship Weekend. At the spring banquet with Phi Eta Sigma new members were initiated.

Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma members are active throughout the year, helping on busy Scholarship Weekend, and holding two annual dinners—one of which is a banquet with members of Alpha Lam following initiation. Men with an average of 2.5 for the semester are admitted, but a freshman with an accumulative 2.5 for the year can be initiated the following fall.

TOP ROW: Walter Jolly, Bill Woods, Bill Harris; Pete Kiger, Charles Merideth, Barry Lindley, Gareth Gilkey

Phi Beta Kappa

At the annual Phi Beta Kappa Chapel each spring great anticipation reigns. The reason for the excitement lies within the awarding of a simple piece of jewelry. The significance of the piece of jewelry is more complex. The key is a symbol of scholastic achievement awarded to the students in the senior class who obtain the highest composite average. This year thirty-seven seniors were chosen for membership. Professor Richard Davis Mallory, an active member of Phi Beta Kappa, gave the chapel address.

Rector Scholars

Receiving a Rector Scholarship is no small accomplishment since the recipients are chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, personality, and leadership. This year approximately 300 boys on campus held these coveted scholarships. Besides assisting the Admissions Office by guiding prospective students on campus tours, the men gathered for the annual Rector Scholar Banquet with their female counterparts, the McMahan Scholars. The females showed their superiority this year when the freshman with the highest first semester average was announced.

Gold Key

Recognition Chapel is a big event for the male functionaries of the junior class as the men with the canes—those who have already made the grade—wander around Meharry tapping worthy young shoulders for membership in Gold Key. Membership is made up of students selected on the basis of scholarship, activities, and leadership. The group meets once a month for dinner and discussion of a campus issue. Their activities during the year include a skit with Mortar Board for WUS Carnival, ushering at alumni chapels, and serving as hosts at President Humbert's receptions.

Mortar Board

Scholarship, leadership, and service make up the requirements for election to Mortar Board. This senior women's honorary increased this year to eleven girls, all working hard for University projects. The biggest event of the year was the Late Hours Contest, raising money from each living unit for women's scholarships by money chains and auctions. Other projects included selling balloons at Old Gold Day and participating in the WUS Carnival. Climaxing the year was the May Day banquet with the announcement of new members, followed by serenades.

Arnold Air Society

Arnold Air Society, besides its usual functions including the Military Ball, promoted a flight to New Orleans. Directly affiliated with the National Air Force Association for Air Force Officers, it maintains liaison between the campus and the ROTC corps, as well as offering recognition to outstanding cadets.

Alpha Delta Sigma

One of the highlights of DePauw cultural life is ADS Jazz Concert, this year presenting the esoteric Ahmad Jamal. The advertising fellowship contributes materially to the more fundamental aspects of campus life by publishing that vital pamphlet, the Freshman Handbook, and supplying the football and basketball fans with programs.

Sigma Delta Chi

SDX presented "Guys and Dolls," one of the most successful musicals at DePauw for many a year. This year the national journalistic honorary celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. The traditional football game with ADS had to be called off, and SDX men were unable to repeat last year's victory.

BOTTOM ROW: Sunny Eventstad, Bitta Nyland, Treos; Beth Bogie, Pres.; Leigh Hollis, V-Pres.; Mary Wood, Sec'y.

Tusitala

Tusitala, DePauw's creative writing honorary, schedules as few meetings as possible, leaving members time for their creative faculties to function. Their two meetings included a dinner and initiation in the spring.

TOP ROW: Oliver Robinson, Sponsor; Beth Bogie, Helen DeLong, Roger Jones; Bob Young.
BOTTOM ROW: Karen Hoven, Sec'y; Pam Mills, Pres.; Helen Cooper, V-Pres.

Chris Nehf; Steve Morgan,
Jim Swinehart; Ken Stover;
Bill Woods.

Beta Beta Beta

Last year the initiation picnic of the Beta Beta Beta zoology honorary had to be postponed because of Mother Nature's interference in the form of a downpour. Out-smarting the elements this year, the group held their initiation inside.

Phi Epsilon Phi

Providing a diversity of otherwise untouched subjects for botany and bacteriology majors is the main job of the Phi Epsilon Phi honorary. Guest speakers and student-planned, faculty-directed programs, held intermittently throughout the year, accomplish this aim.

Delta Omicron Pi

Outstanding students of medicine compose the pre-med honorary, Delta Omicron Chi. American Medical Association movies and guest speakers comprise the monthly meetings.

TOP ROW: Ted Carson, Bob Packer, Dick Loescher, Wayne Meyer, Gareth Gilkey, Pres.; Barry Lindley, Jim Swinehart, Ken Lacke. SECOND ROW: John Hurley, Wade Hammond, Skip Hostettler, Bill Bean, Bob Mitchell, Don Eiler, Dave Bunn, R. J. Noble, V-Pres.; Tom West. BOTTOM ROW: Ned Rule, Paul Cochran, Sec'y-Treas.; Alton Podgitt, Roger Sherman, Leslie Ericson, Richard Havlik; Windsor Holt; Charles Merrieth; John Goetcheus.

John Hurley; Ray Profant; Lee Carlson; Lawrence Clarkson, V-Pres.; Poul Sabine, Treas.; Jon Cryer; Herb Perry, Sec'y.

Phi Mu Alpha

Phi Mu Alpha is the men's national music fraternity. Members are pledged in the fall on the basis of performing ability, scholarship, and character. Pledges give a recital—either voice or instrumental—soon after their initiation.

Mu Phi Epsilon

Selling turtles (the edible kind), as a money-making project, and holding a founder's day banquet in November are parts of the program of Mu Phi Epsilon, the national professional music sorority. Pledges from the fall and spring are presented at two recitals. Supporting its altruistic project, Gads Hill Center in Chicago, is another major activity.

BOTTOM ROW: Janet Gates, Sara Copeland, Marilyn Hays, V-Pres., Maggie McElwain, Pres., Tricia Myers, Treas., Sandy Aldrich.

American Guild of Organists

Students interested in organ are chosen for membership in the American Guild of Organists. This honorary concentrates on the improvement of organ and choral standards in church music.

TOP ROW: Marilyn Taylor, Cynthia Ferguson, Arthur Corkeek, Don Pettit, Treas.; Catherine Helmer, Nancy Call, Maggie McElwain.

Delta Sigma Rho

Not only is a keen interest in debate and speaking necessary, but a high scholastic average is also regarded as prerequisite by this honorary group, a nationwide forensic association for orators with two years of college behind them. The annual inter-collegiate tournament is sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho.

Debate

The debate team holds tournaments with any neighboring universities, as well as an annual debate with visiting teams from English universities, namely Oxford and Cambridge.

Duzer Du

Duzer Du is both an honorary recognition for those who display exceptional dramatic talents, and a group which participates actively in DePauw cultural programs. It works closely with the Little Theatre and sponsors a play at Commencement.

Kappa Pi

Kappa Pi members began the year as hosts to visiting celebrity Vincent Price. Among their activities were the annual Beaux Arts Ball, campus exhibitions, Art Auction, and trip to the Chicago Art Institute. They ended the year with a senior show and tea at which senior art majors displayed their work.

Psi Chi

The national psychology honorary, Psi Chi, initiates new members each year. They are chosen during the second semester on the basis of scholarship. Although the group does not hold regular meetings, they do assist the Psychology Club (whose members are psych majors or anyone interested in the field) and attend the club's meetings.

Jane Sturgis, Pres.; Herman Poppe; Marcia Mead; John Gaetcheus; Dr. Herald Ross; Marilyn Meyer, V-Pres.; Dave Pomeroy.

Collegians

"Who knows where or when . . ." once more introduced the Collegians this year as their harmonious refrains drifted from the halls of old Meharry. Jon Cryer led their debut on Dod's Day. Prospective Rector Scholars listened to "Tonight" and "Gee, Officer Krupke" from the WEST SIDE STORY. Mother's Day closed the season, giving the Moms a chance to relax and listen to her favorite show songs and standards by DePauw's own Collegians.

Madrigals

Show tunes and such ballads as "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair" are the repertoire of the Madrigal Singers. Among their performances were the Foreign Students' Banquet, a spring concert, and a show with Orchesis in December. Their second year proved to be even more active than the first for the group whose theme is "Greensleeves."

Orchesis

Orchesis, DePauw's honorary for students interested in creative dance, was directed by Miss Martha Cornick, who helped the group through long practices and trying rehearsals. Their performances included the Winter Concert, invitations to Terre Haute to dance on TV and to Volpo for a composers' concert, and a fall chapel for RE Week. The spring brought the excitement of dancing "Manhattan Tour" for the American Arts Festival and the thrill of giving Helen Keller chapel, which was performed on Indianapolis TV and kinescoped for future-viewing. The May Day production was an extravaganza of exciting dances from the four corners of the globe.

Naiad

To start the year off a few Naiad members began preparation for a trip to the University of Massachusetts for the Association of Synchronized Swimming of College Women. DePauw's swimming honorary was one of the six schools there demonstrating various skills. To add to the club 12 new members were chosen from tryouts, and they helped make this past year successful. In December a workshop for all the swimming organizations in Indiana was held here. Shows were presented scholarship week-end, as well as for the campus and town, and for the mothers on May Day. Climaxing a busy year, an annual picnic was held at Robe-Ann Park.

PUBLICATIONS

These enthusiastic DEPAUW functioners are Joe Horper, Lorry Murrell, Doug Warwick, Tony Stavely, Jerry Dunphy, Cori Wolf, Leigh Hollis, Helen Cooper and Beth Bogie.

The DePauw

Editors, reporters, and columnists madly dashing from the copy desk to the city desk . . . news releases, copy, and pictures being dummed in by city editors . . . it's five hours until dress time and the staff members of THE DEPAUW are frantically going about their journalistic activities. The staff editor and copy editors supervise the activity around the copy desk and show the beginning journalists how to delete mistakes from and add headlines to the stories.

Three times weekly a five hour deadline keeps the staff on its toes. Quick trips to the downtown print shop to deliver copy, get picture sizes and to set headlines and read proof are only part of the excitement of a journalistic activity. Receiving a byline, setting a headline on the Ludlow machine and getting the paper to press—letter perfect—make the hurry and scurry of the preceding five hours worthwhile.

Staff members include Marilyn Montle, John Guy, Anne Husted, Jim Lashley, Judy MacFall, Jeon Rodgers, Doug Warwick, Helen Cooper and Joe Horper.

A fond farewell went to outgoing editor Bob Sharp from Mary Wood, who took over his duties.

Joe Horper and Bob Sharp built up their muscles carrying those heavy trays at The Bonner office.

Patty Vaughn was the Editor. Helen DeLang was the Associate Editor. Those pictures are for the MIRAGE. They're the girls who dreamed up all the poses.

The Mirage

This is the time when all has been said—except what's yet to be written about the MIRAGE itself—and the copy editor is done in. Exhaustion has the whole staff in its clutches in fact. Editor Patty Vaughn is sleeping for the first time in two semesters. Curled up in a corner of the Pub Building amidst the clutter of picture proofs and copy, she shouts wildly now and then—"What do you mean there aren't any pictures of spring sports!" Don Driemeier, head resting in the red ink on the ledger, gives only a loud snore, then rolls his head onto the debit side. Slumped over the telephone is Judy Van Scoyk, her ident book on the floor. "The Dekes, the Dekes," she's muttering. "Five tries for a house picture, and now we can't even identify them!"

These invaluable assistants are Barb Overhalt, Janet Mitchell, Hathaway Harvey, Sharan Scott, Tom Andersan, Ron Smith, Gail Jergens, Bannie Gage, Ann Lundy and Harriet Weeks.

Dan Driemeier was the Business Manager. He just grinned at the bill collectors.

The junior editors weren't always smiling. Bill McDowell went to sports events. Bitsy Warner engraved. Barb Hepler wrote copy. Betsy Flora drew pictures. Judy Von Scoyk identified all of us.

Bitsy Warner stumbled out the door in a trance a few minutes ago, carrying her glue and scissors—yelled something about engraving her name on the Boulder. Bill McDowell, his usual rapid-fire commentary paused into the last pages of the sports section, is silent. The whole room is silent, except for the drone in the copy editor's head . . . one more article . . . word count 240 . . . never again . . . never again . . . Up on the wall the date on the calendar, March 22, glares unblinkingly . . . deadline! The steady ticking of the clock grows louder. One hour to go . . . Deadline! The copy editor blinks rapidly, stabs at the typewriter . . . What to say? There is nothing left to say, except it's done. This is it. The 1960 MIRAGE.

Jock Hotcher sold MIRAGES. Tom Evans sold ads out of town. And Bill Hoffman sold more ads. They seemed to enjoy selling things.

House reps did their part too. Some houses were represented by Jon Bolbough, Bill Bull, Linda Crowell, Dick Fairchild, Susan O'Hare, Kent Mitchell, Darlene Westlund, Dotty Yu and Suds Sherry.

Deadlines Meant Work, Work, and More Work!

The photographers have their own darkroom. That's Dick Sauvain.

Judy Van Scayk and Julie Greek marked idents all over the place.

Pat Hansen, Bitsy Warner, and Patty Vaughn glue up the works.

Photography staff gone berserk includes (in some order or other) J. Musgrave, G. Wuhs, J. Busey, J. Hered, B. McDowell, D. Souvoin, L. Rickard, and A. Black.

Photo Staff

The photo staff operates from a darkroom and an office somewhere inside the Pub Building, where it keeps its equipment and processes all the pictures for the MIRAGE and THE DEPAUW. The staff finds itself hard pressed by the demands of keeping these two publications well supplied with pictures, but nevertheless finds time to make itself known to all who work in the Pub Building. The members occupy fairly permanent positions, holding them for as long as they like if they prove their ability.

Publications Board

The Pub Board determines which students out of the group of applicants shall fill the major executive positions in the two main DePauw publications, the MIRAGE and THE DEPAUW, and gives them suggestions to improve organization, salesmanship, and financial management. The board is composed of six faculty members and six student members, who are elected from the student body by Student Senate. This arrangement gives student and faculty equal voice. The board's function is to uphold the freedom of the press.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

MSF

TOP ROW: Bab Darnall; Stephen Ross; Dave Steinbrink; Bob Fredrickson; Lee Rass; Ed Thampsan; Stan Hewitson
SECOND ROW: Susie Donavan; Laura Ingalls; Alice Staut; Ran Dixan; Dave Pameray; Roger Sherman; Susan Price; Max Case.

Canterbury Club

Episcopal college students and faculty members form the membership of the Canterbury Club. They meet after communion on Wednesdays and Sundays for a program and dessert, and Sunday evening for song worship. At one meeting slides from an Episcopal Summer Work Project in Japan were shown.

Ten commissions of the Methodist Student Foundation worked on beneficial projects, serving the campus and Indiana communities. Deputation groups toured the state, presenting dramatic programs and worship services. Community Service Area went to the Ridgewood Correctional Home for Wayward Children as one of their service projects. In the spring students joined delegations which traveled to Washington, D.C. to study political operations and Atlanta to investigate the racial situation. Included on the southern schedule were visits to eight states.

Christian Science

Students of Christian Science meet weekly to share testimonies of the healing power of Christian Science and to hear readings from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook. Sponsoring a campus-wide lecture on Christian Science, the organization brought Mr. Jules Cern to DePauw.

College Class in Religion

Hymn sings during finals, faculty speakers, and student panels on a multitude of thought-provoking subjects highlighted the program of the Sunday morning College Class in Religion, which meets regularly in Meharry Hall. Faculty members led group discussions on the meaning of religion and explored the area of faith at various times throughout the year. Picnics and sunrise breakfasts were part of the year's activities.

CORL

Council on Religious Life—student co-ordinating body for all campus religious activities—sponsored Religious Evaluation Week late in the fall. Members joined with the YWCA to plan vespers before vacations and to publish the annual Lenten booklet. During the year CORL sponsored four inter-denominational Sunday night meetings.

Oxford Fellowship

For those students who are preparing for a vocation of full-time Christian service, DePauw offers membership in the Oxford Fellowship, an interdenominational organization centered around preparation for Christian vocations. Members of this fellowship have left college to enter the ministry, mission fields, and religious education areas.

Marilyn Taylor; Laura Ingalls; Jane Rininger; Bill Carriger; Ron Dixon; Marcia Borst.

Newman Club

Father Dooley made the trip from Brazil to Greencastle once every two weeks on Sunday nights to moderate Newman Club activities. Catholic students planned no special events this year, but discussed issues of religious controversy, talked of pertinent problems, and exchanged ideas within their group.

Wesley Players

Wesley Players is a group connected with, yet independent of, MSF. Its purpose is to present good religious drama for the benefit of the campus, the Greencastle churches, and the state universities, as well as to provide an appreciation of religious art for the individual. In the fall the Players presented "Tea and Sympathy," directed by one of their own members.

UCCF

The United Campus Christian Fellowship, a merger this year of four church student groups, attempts to make a ministry to the campus by its two study groups, one of the Bible, and another of the reformed tradition.

CLUBS

Jackson Club

Having speakers on both state and county levels explain things to them about the Democratic party is the purpose of the Jackson Club, an organization obviously in the minority on this campus.

TOP ROW: Steve Phillips; Robert Cly; Jack LeMasters, Treas.; Kerry Keith; Larry Murrell
SECOND ROW: Dave Rasetti; John Graham; Kenny Truelave; Edward Walz; Bruce Campbell

IRC

International relations are especially important in our world today. The large membership of the International Relations Club is evidence of the growing concern of DePauw students in the nations of the world. This year frequent movies and speakers have interested non-members as well as members, and the African seminar was a valuable project for all who participated. Besides movies and discussions, the group organized a trip to the World Affairs Conference.

Young Republicans

Young Republicans, which is directly connected with the central party, prepared for election year by inviting aspirants to political offices to their meetings for talks and discussions, by working with county organizations, and by attending both state and midwest rallies.

Chemistry Club

$H_2SO_4 + NaCl = ?$  Let's leave that up to the chemistry majors; and if they can't work it, we can try the Chemistry Club composed of chemistry majors. They do more than solve problems, such as have meetings, see movies, listen to outside speakers, and enjoy get-togethers and picnics.

Physics Club

Physics majors and interested students are encouraged to join the Physics Club. The informal meetings, held every other month, included guest lecturers and professors from other campuses. The members benefited from current information on physics.

A. D. Sprague; John Barnes; Larry Smith, Al Simon; Dick Sauvain, Pres.; Jim Braunsdorf.

German Club

Monthly meetings are held by the German Club to have speakers, dinners, and song fests. This club assumes the responsibility of making German a language that can be enjoyed by those who speak it, broadening classroom learning. Knowing and speaking the language helps people learn the treasures of the German culture.

Home Ec. Club

Even future homemakers, members of the Home Economics Club—including all home ec majors and minors—can make mistakes. At an introductory "Koffeklatsch" this year thirty cups of hot chocolate were left-over. Active members sponsored a cookie sale, a banquet, and a Halloween party.

BOTTOM ROW: Marilyn Mantle, Bitta Nyland, Sec'y; Barbara Babcock, Treas.; Peggy Rossiter, Pres.; Louise Regnier, V-Pres.; Zanne Grimes, Libby Young.

Sigma Tau Mu

Indianapolis and the white cap are the first goals of students entering DePauw in the Nursing School. These girls and others may belong to Sigma Tau Mu, the nursing club, which holds monthly meetings. Guest speakers are frequent attractions.

NSEA

Future teachers attend monthly Student Education Association meetings for future planning and fun. A Christmas party and a spring banquet highlighted their activities. DePauw's chapter is represented with one officer in the Indiana Student Education Association.

Psychology Club

At Psychology Club meetings members learned uses for their major beyond self-analysis. During the club's banquet psychology professors squirmed as their idiosyncrasies became the object of the entertainment.

Shakespeare Club

Shakespeare Club is formed by the people who wish to reach a more thorough understanding of the great writer and his works. Tops on this year's agenda were the Christmas party and spring banquet.

Toynbee

The oldest departmental club is Toynbee. Open to sociology majors and minors, the club meets once a month to listen to panel discussions and guest speakers.

Officials Club

Officials Club, a part of WRA Board, chooses 15 girls at clinics held in the fall and January. They officiate at girl's intramural volleyball and basketball games. At monthly meetings they discuss rules and show films.

Hockey Club

Two proved to be a developing number for the two-year-old Hockey Club, selected and coached this year by Miss Beckman. A scrimmage quota, twenty-two girls, played two games (against Earlham College and Purdue University) in the fall and met twice a week during the other two seasons.

Sailing Club

Sailing Club is organized for no other purpose than fun. Their constructive fun includes training members in racing rules and sailing skills. This year their fleet was expanded with the purchase of a Rebel class sloop.

Rifle Club

Rifle Club fires matches with other schools. Teams are made up of high scorers during the week of the match. Individual awards are given for firing a perfect target of ten bull's eyes.

Drill Team

The drill team is composed of those cadets who are especially interested in drilling and who are able to devote the time required to train a crack drill team, which is just what this team is.

ROTC Band

The ROTC band, after practicing diligently every Monday afternoon during the fall, was twice thwarted from appearing at the ROTC reviews by inclement weather. The band is mainly recruited from cadets, but also uses several bandmen from the University Band.

Chapel Choir

Chapel Choir is a relatively new organization composed of mixed voices. During the year it has participated in Wednesday chapel programs in conjunction with the other choirs and helped with the Sunday radio program, "Faith for Today," which features Dr. Humbert as the regular speaker.

Motet Choir

The women's choral organization, Motet, is designed as a training group for potential members of the University Choir. Singing in chapel several times this year, the Motet's most impressive presentation was given at Christmas when they combined with the other two choirs to sing portions of Handel's "Messiah."

University Choir

The University Choir, a mixed group chosen by audition, had another stimulating year highlighted by a spring tour to Denver where it made its fifth appearance for the General Conference of the Methodist Church. Centering around chapel every Wednesday, the choir's busy schedule also included a combined concert with the Wabash Glee Club.

Orchestra

The hard working members of the DePauw University Orchestra hit the peak of their season when they took a spring tour to southern Indiana. In addition to this trip, they also delighted audiences with their regular and pops concerts throughout the year. The season ended with a concerto concert in which the seniors were featured.

Working hard and following the saying that "practice makes perfect," the discordant strains of rehearsals became the harmonious tunes of concerts.

University Marching Band

During the half-time show, our band forms a huge bell, signifying the DPU-Wabash Manon Bell Contest

Nothing—including rain, snow, or mud—could keep the DePauw Band from putting on a fabulous half-time show during the gridiron season. This year under the direction of Professor Dan Hanna, the band made a trip to Indiana University to present a concert during which they played an original composition by Professor Don White. The 74-piece band earned critical acclaim for its interpretation of selections by Giannini, Elgar, and Beghon. Climaxing pre-holiday activities the band performed two French band numbers. In addition, informal concerts in the UB were part of their program. Ushering in spring properly, the band entertained with traditional quad concerts.

Mont's First Season Was a Losing One

The physical rewards of a 1-7-1 season were small for head coach Tommy Mont and his 1959 grididers.

A homecoming win over Valparaiso and a 6-6 tie with Wabash had to offset five ICC losses and two non-league defeats in Mont's first year on campus.

But the record does not accurately picture the Tiger season last fall.

In evidence as the year began was the fact that much of the Tigers' success weighed heavily on the running of senior half-backs Dick Mace and Larry Lewallen, their speed having to make up for "inexperience" mistakes and a passing attack that was at average less than 50-yards a game during the season.

Loaded with sophomores and juniors, hampered by four rainy Saturdays at Blackstack, and beset with telling injuries, the Bengals gave a promising account of themselves and, with a break or two, could have reversed the card.

They jumped off the deep end without enough breath in taking on Hope and St. Joseph's as their first two opponents. It was understandable that they were outclassed 20-7 and 19-0.

Indiana State hung on for a 28-21 win in the Bengal's third contest of the year. But the Tigers caught up with Valpa on the next weekend 17-13, Mace passing for one score, running for another and punting 70-yards to set up a safety before the Old Gold Day crowd was chased by a driving rain storm.

As the 1959 season opened the Tigers came out clawing, and immediately slashed their way through both Indiana State and Ball State; absorbing their lone defeat from a good Valparaiso squad.

The Indiana State game, a viciously fought contest, saw Dave Petersen's last second field goal give DePauw a 16-14 edge and its first victory.

At Ball State a 89-yard scoring thrust by Jim Weber coupled with the long aerials of quarterback Jim Menighan, the spectacular catches of end and co-captain Sam Chattin, and the brutal defense of Joel Thomason all combined to bring DePauw its second win, 12-6.

In a lack-luster finish with Valparaiso the Tigers suffered their only defeat, 32-0, to end the season with a 2-1 record.

Sophomore-Studded Squad Looks to Future

Coach Elmer McCall's Bengal basketball team closed the 1959-60 season with an over-all record of eight wins and fourteen losses with a 3-8 record in the ICC. Usually fielding a team of four sophomores and one senior season was marked by a number of close losses, dramatic individual performances and balanced team scoring.

The Tigers got the season off to a high scoring start with a 98-80 win over Franklin College and followed it up with three more consecutive wins over Indiana Central, Denison and Ball State.

The Tigers were still playing heads-up ball as they drapped the first game of the season to highly-rated Akron University by a scant two points, 76-74.

Tigers' Tale—The One We Almost Won

During their southern trip at Christmas vacation, the Tigers dropped two more games, one to Centenary (La.) and the other to Arkansas State. The Bengal five returned to Hoosierland only to meet defeat once again at the hands of the nation's number one small college team, Evansville College, after being only two points behind at the halfway mark.

Lady Luck still refused to smile on the McCall five as they dropped their next four games to St. Joe, Valpo, Butler and Wheaton. But on January 19, 1960, the Tigers sharpened their claws and tore into Indiana State's Sycamores for a 87-73 win, their first in 10 games. The Tigers won another game at the expense of Illinois Wesleyan and then dropped a game to Washington University. They bounced back to avenge an earlier defeat by St. Joe and continued in their winning ways with a victory over Ball State. The Bengals dropped three ICC games in a row to Indiana State, Evansville and Butler, but roared back to claw Wabash to pieces in a double overtime 80-78 thriller as sophomore Jim Zerface threw in 35 points. The Tigers closed out the season with a dismal 69-49 loss to Valparaiso.

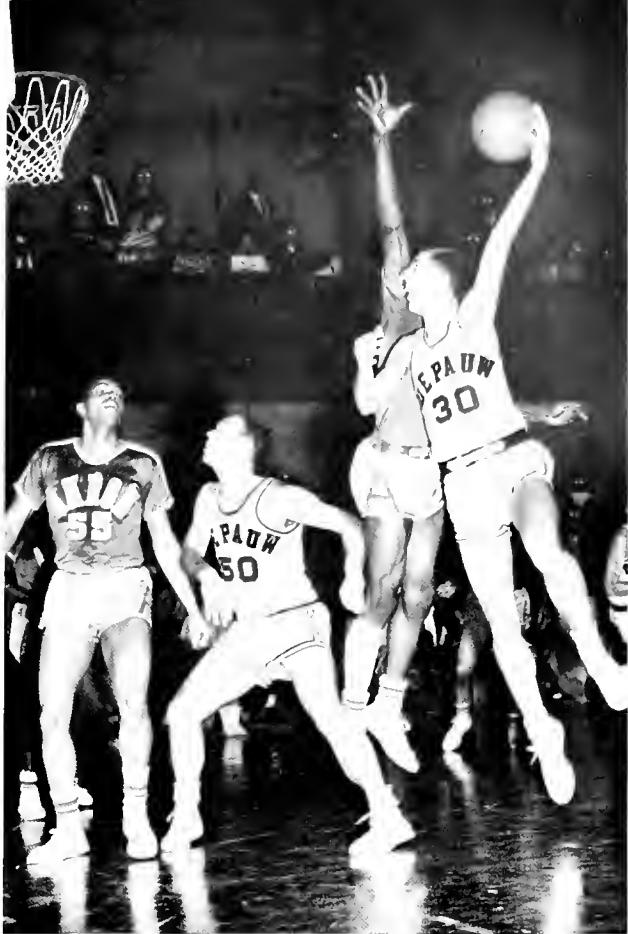

Dale Anderson led the Tiger scoring attack for the season with Herb Spier, Jim Zerface and Larry Leas following close behind. Larry Skelton closed out his basketball career as one of the top defensive men on the team, and the only other senior on the team, Phil Houston, finished out his last season with a tremendous second-half scoring attack in the Wabash game that netted the team 18 more points and set the stage for DePauw's last second victory over Wabash.

DePauw's Tiger cubs finished up their first season of college basketball with a 105-55 drubbing of Wabash's Little Neanderthals. During the season freshman coach Robert Harvey's team racked up a 2-6 record, both their wins coming at the expense of Wabash.

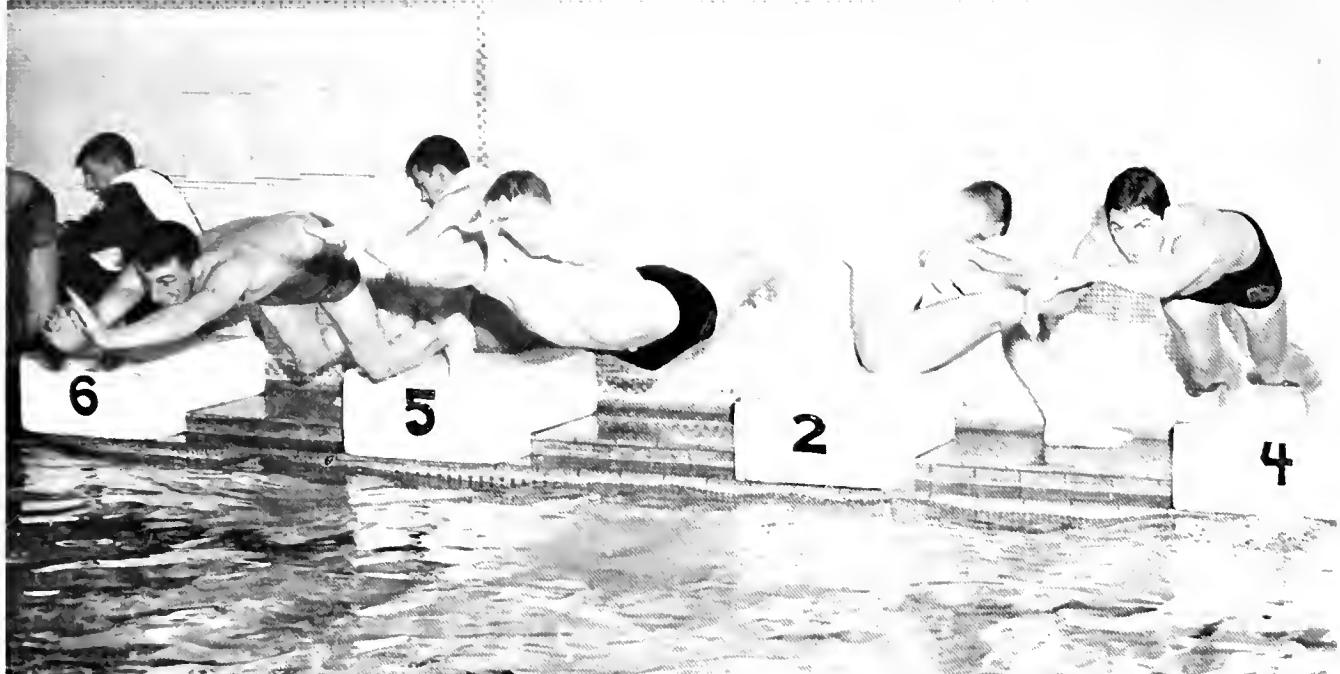

The young Tigers dropped all six of their scheduled ICC games, losing to Evansville College, Valparaiso, and two games to both Butler and Indiana State.

Evansville's junior Aces wallaped the novice Bengals 93-79 despite a tremendous 33 point effort by Ron Zalewski, who ended the season with a 23.87 points-per-game average.

The Tiger cubs traveled to Wabash and eked out a 62-60 win over the young Cave-dwellers, but were then beaten 63-56 by Valpa, 71-57 by Butler and 85-68 by Indiana State. Butler and Indiana State both got chances for making it two in a row against the Tigers as Butler turned them back 82-70 while State edged by 72-69.

The 1959-60 DePauw swimming team coached by Charlie Erdmann copped both the ICC and IIAA conference meets, setting three new ICC records, and swept 10 of 12 regular season meets to become the undisputed champion of the ICC.

Team balance and excellent conditioning were responsible for the highly successful Tiger season. Led by sophomore George Thornton, who set ICC records in both the 220- and 440-yard free style events and John Thomas, sophomore holder of the ICC backstroke record, the Tiger tankers, including seniors Ralph Sheese, Jack Gifford, Mac Oswalt and Bob Lee, out-scored defending champion Ball State 61-48 for the conference title.

Matmen, Grades Tangle

Wrestling, still in its infancy on the DePauw campus, found a relatively young, inexperienced squad competing for starting berths this year. Determination, desire, long hours in grueling practice sessions and a touch of "Dame Luck's" glitter, turned what could have been a disastrous season into an extremely successful one.

"Little State Champion," Jim Trees repeatedly turned in exceptional performances (he was defeated only once in 10 matches). Seniors Hakki Ogelman and Bill Reed both showed flashes of brilliance while compiling numerous victories and Dave Allen consistently exhibited excellent form in his matches.

Scholastic ineligibilities dealt a loaded hand to the squad at semester's end, depleting the already thin ranks still more as the ICC meet approached. Despite Little State championships won by Jim Trees in the 167-pound weight division and Bill Reed in the 177-pound division, DePauw's grapplers were only able to cop a fourth place, behind Little State champion Indiana Central, Bell State and Wabash, in the conference meet held at Bowman gym.

DePauw's cindermen compiled a 4-2-1 aver-all record last spring by defeating Valparaiso, Memphis State and Washington University (triangular meet), Cincinnati and Indiana State, losing to Wabash and Ball State and tying Butler.

In the ICC meet, the Tigers fell victim to chamaian Ball State and runner-up Butler and finished third. In Little State competition, the Tigers once again took a third behind Wabash and Ball State, and in the Big State meet, the Tigers tied Ball State for eighth place.

DePauw's harriers behind the running of Dick Strakowski, Walt Stewart, Ed Thompson, Tom Blake, Dave Emens, Pete Kroll and Bob Fox captured the ICC cross-country championship they shared with Indiana State last year.

The Tiger runners compiled a 5-2 record during the regular season, losing only to Wabash and Indiana State. In the combined ICC, Big State, Little State meet in Indianapolis, however, Coach Robert Horvey's team won the ICC, took a second place in the Little State, losing only to Wabash and capped a fourth place in the Big State meet, being defeated by Notre Dame, Indiana University and Wabash.

Brunkow, Holty Cop All-Conference Titles

DePauw's netmen posted a 4-1 season record in the ICC and won two individual ICC crowns in the conference meet as they placed second behind a powerful Ball State team.

During the regular season the Tiger tennis team blanked Evansville College, Valparaiso and Indiana State, each by 7-0 scores, dropped Butler, 6-1 and lost to Ball State, 6-1.

Sophomores Tom Brunkow and Dave Holty copped the number one and number five singles championships respectively in the conference meet as Ball State racked up 64 points to take the ICC title. DePauw was second with 30 points.

Coach Mike Snavely's team posted a 6-9 over-all record for the season, playing and losing to such Big Ten powers as Indiana University and the University of Illinois.

Traveling south to Memphis Tennessee during spring vacation, the team posted a 1-3 record, defeating Memphis State and losing two matches to Southwestern University and a single match to the University Club.

DePauw Diamondmen Third in ICC Competition

DePauw diamondmen counted six wins in a 15 game schedule and under Coach Roy Brann natched a 6-5 record in the ICC gaad far third place. The Tigers, despite a mediocre record, stayed in contention for the league crown until the latter third of the season when they dropped clutch double-headers to the league's one and two teams, Valparaiso and Butler. The Bengals, in ICC competition, picked up wins over St. Jaseah's, Ball State, Evansville and Indiana State.

Four Tigers gaired conference honors. Pitchers John Cassady and Dick Robinson along with first baseman Larry Skeleton and outfielder Mike Crawley received berths on the all-ICC second team.

Sophomore outfielder Dave Clifford led the club in hitting, slamming out a .350 average. Crawley hit .326, Butch Calin .333, and Dan Rich .318.

Robinson led the mound stoff with three wins and three losses while Casady, working in 10 af DePauw's 15 games, had the best earned run average as he held his opponents ta 2.75 runs per game. Cassady also finished up the season with most completed games, going all the way in five games.

Hampered by lack of experience and plagued by bad weather, Coach Elmer McCall's Tigers copped only two of their 11 scheduled golf matches. Tiger wins came at the expense of Valparaiso and Eastern Illinois. Butler, Wabash, and Indiana State each took two wins from the DePauw golfers.

There was, however, a bright spot in the Tiger's dreary spring campaign. Senior Bill Dugan will be the only one missing when the 1960 golf season rolls around. Junior, Jim Fleece, and Sophomores, Hath Harvey and Lou Harmening, who competed with Dugan last season, will all be back along with Sophomore, Tom Smith. Top-flight

IM's Provide Outlets for Frustrated DePauwites

The 1959-60 IM activity got off to a roaring start in the fight for the touch football championship. In the title game Phi Gam defeated defending champion Beta, 6-0.

The lone touchdown in the game came in the eighth period of play, when, with only thirty seconds remaining, tailback Dick French hit Gary Wegenke with a 20-yard pass for the tally. Defense was the key to the championship. Phi Gam ends Dick Fairchild and Don Joyner were outstanding in the title game as they had been in the regular season, helping Phi Gam compile a 9-0 season record.

A hustling, hot-shooting Phi Gam five, led by veteran Dick French, swept past regular season champion Phi Psi in the final game of the IM basketball tournament to cap the 1959-60 league crown.

The Fiji quintet downed the Phi Psi's Big Green in the 51-47 overtime opening tilt to take a 1-0 lead in tournament play.

Phi Psi roared back to capture the second game of the three game series in a 62-61 double overtime thriller to throw the playoffs into a 1-1 tie.

In the deciding game, however, the never-say-die Fiji five came from behind to cop the final game of the series and the tournament with a 40-36 verdict.

Beta Captured the Swimming Title

After losing the IM football title, Beta bounced back with wins in the IM golf tournament and the IM swimming meet.

The Beta foursome composed of Dick Meeker, Craig Campbell, Ron Evans and Jere Lawrence kept the gulf trophy in the Beta house for the fourth consecutive year as they shot an outstanding 318 to outdistance the rest of the field. Flossie took a commanding lead in the IM bowling tournament from the start and scored its first IM championship of the year by registering a total of 3,796 pins. John Ingles, Flossie's number one man, scored a total of 1,058 pins to cop individual scoring honors.

Ingles was followed by Phi Delt's Pete Barclay, MHA's Mike Nisen, DU's Ken Smail and ATO's Dave Rickard in the individual scoring.

Phi Delt railed the ridders by only 17 pins to grab off the runner-up position, and DU, Phi Gam and Delt finished third, fourth and fifth respectively in the team scoring race.

Beta took the 1959 volleyball championship. Sparked by big "Ike" Tallman and Jerry Sukura, Beta battled ATO for league honors and came out on top in the best out of three competition.

Sigma Chi threw its weight around in IM competition and came away with two more championships—track and tennis. Showing strong in the field events, the Sigs battled down to the wire with Sigma Nu for first place honors and came out the eventual winners. DU's Dale Anderson capped individual scoring honors for the day with a total of 13 points and the IM high jump record. Their tennis championship came as a result of balanced scoring.

Alpha Chi and Pi Phi Capture IM Titles

WRA means recreation for all women on the DePauw campus. This has been exemplified in our intramural program, interschool competition and various other activities such as sparts sprees which WRA sponsors. The WRA Sing on May Day weekend and the annual WRA Banquet put the finishing touches on a year in sports.

Among the new features included in the WRA program this year were the Noiad Clinic and the Mid-Western Badminton Tournament, both held at Bowman gymnasium.

The Hockey Club and the WRA basketball team extended their schedule to include inter-school competition with Earlham, Purdue, Butler, Indiana University and Valparaiso.

Marty Darsett racks up pins for Pi Phi.

DG's Cinn Thomas and Bonnie Gage capture the b-ball football style

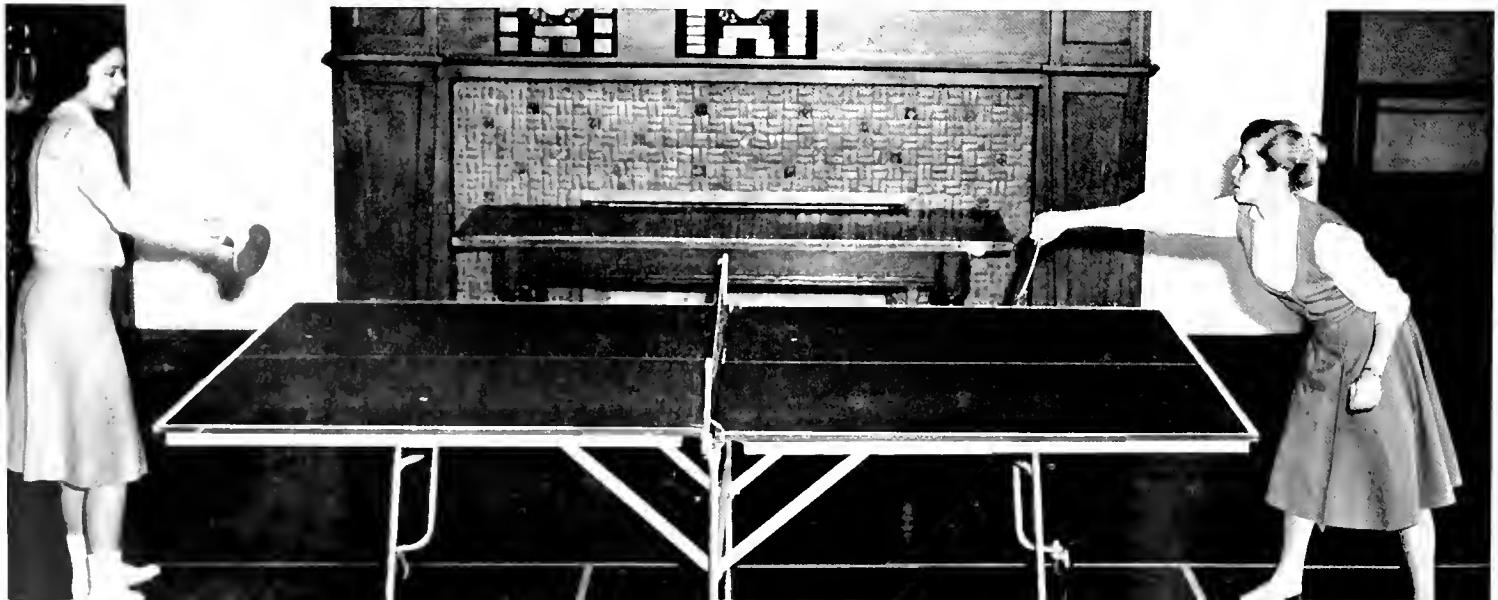

DePauw and Earlham meet for a round of shin-bruising field hockey.

Female Gladiators Clash On Hockey Meadows

This year competition was the key word in WRA intramurals. The top competitors were the Alpha Chi's who won two of WRA's most popular team sports—volleyball and basketball. Pi Phi won the bowling championship and Anderson Hause won the Swimming Marathon.

Individual championships for the year went to Dodie Barth in badminton singles, Marty Jarvis and Dodie Barth in badminton doubles, and Madge Douda and Marianne Jacobson in tennis doubles. The DG's won the softball championship of the '59 season.

Lee Erickson and Patty Vaughn, table tennis runner-ups, indulge in a lively game. Joyce Hopewell won the tournament.

ALPHA CHI's danced in Old Venice.

Greencastle weather was great this year
Despite all the rain and the snow,
For the sun came out fifty-nine times a day
With twenty reflections to show.

The Alpha Chi sisters jained forces to tackle
Exams and professors and books,
And in late-night discussions found learning was fun—
That is, learning to sew and to cook!

We danced in old Venice to honor our pledges;
Thanksgiving was here in a flash;
Christmas brought parties, vacation, and fun;
Our spring dance with Theta—a smash!

Away from our grasp sped our happiest days,
Bowing to time's old law,
But the echo remains, as a brand new year cries,
"Three cheers for old DePauw!"

ALPHA GAMS drank up lore and lemonades.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA'S . . . all got together, not deciding whether books or fun would be the one goal for us. Our rigorous year began with cheer, for nineteen new girls soon wore our pearls; and what is more, with parties galore we soon began to understand that both fun and books would have their nooks.

Toward the end of October we felt that sober, dedicated study would be the rule—for the next few weeks at least. And you'll agree with us, we think, that we all have the need to drink up knowledge while we're in college. Thanksgiving came and almost too soon our Christmas Tea and the hour of doom—those exams and papers due before the first semester was through.

But we all came back and felt the lack of three of our seniors who left the fold and acquired more jewelry—bands of gold. Initiation, elections, rush—and there was always the crush of exchanges, dances, and serenades squeezed in between the lemonades and coffee at the Duck. And then, graduation—GOOD LUCK!

A bit of Norway pervaded AOPi faculty dessert.

Once upon a time—to be exact, the year '59—fifty-two AOPi's returned from summer vacation to find the lounge and living room of their house redecorated. Hastily unpacking, they added finishing touches to the house for a mad whirl of rushing. Shortly after, actives and pledges were honored by a visit from their National President, Mrs. Leland. As the year got under way, Dad's Day, Old Gold Day, and pledge cozies kept them busy. November brought two very special occasions: the faculty dessert, or "Norwegian Party," planned by their exchange student from Norway; and the "Rose Ball," for the pledges. At Christmas pinmen helped spread holiday cheer for Green-castle children.

After a wonderful Christmas vacation, second semester began with a bang as finals inspired last minute cramming and burning of midnight oil. The stirrings of spring brought a final burst of activity with Anderson Triad, Mom's Day, sunbathing in the backyard, and finally graduation. Then, once again each AOPi went her own way, with memories of the past year.

PHI activities hit unprecedented high this year.

Greencastle, Ind., May, 1960, Alpha Phi International. Alpha Phi today announced the conclusion of another successful year as the chapter brought to a close its seventy-third season on DePauw's campus.

A French poodle and two returned exchange students added to the usual fun and enthusiasm of life in "the big white house on the corner."

Bobbie Littiken, rush chairman, remarked that we "bubbled" our way through rush to the tune of twenty sharp pledges. The pledge trainer added that the class was a really functioning group.

Sparked by a newly redecorated house and the epitome of housemothers, the Alpha Phi activities hit an unprecedented high according to social chairman Maggie McElwain.

The year's events included a first place award at the WUS Carnival, two traumatic house dances, a "rowdy" waiters' banquet, thoroughly profitable exchanges, various osunder holiday activities, romantic pin serenades, and an unforgettable ainmen's banquet.

House president Jan McAdam stated, "the whole year was a bucket of chuckles with smile time all the way."

TRI DELTAS found life an eternal open house.

Sohia. Welcome to the Hause of the Three Deltas. Confucius say: Tri Delt girls sa gay. New cridental house great jay. Life to Tri Delta girls was eternal open-house, but Tri Delta girls most hanored ta show new home. After Tri Deltas won Old Gald Day decorations, they gave hanorable pledge dance. Tri Deltas added two new groups ta hause this year: Honorable Sarah Ida Shaw Chorale—which functioned at many Tri Delta parties, giving mast enjoyable laughter to Tri Deltas—and hanorable Silent Band. Tri Deltas gave two Christmas teas, danced at Anderson Street Triad, and enjoyed Pansy Breakfast.

Hause af the Three Deltas had mast minor conflict between honorable Shelley Berman and quiet hours, but most honorable quiet hours won. Tri Deltas hanored to have Natty Barranda, foreign student from Phillipines, live in new house with them. Hanorable housemother Mrs. Thralls and hanorable officers help make new hause orderly. Confucius say Tri Deltas had mast satisfactory time through autumn leaves, winter snow, and long spring days. And Confucius is man wha knew. Confucius is man wha knew.

DG's succumbed to nostalgics, Swedish accent.

About a year ago . . . or maybe it was twelve months . . . anyway, it was a year in which we did absolutely everything! If anyone had asked us what we were doing we would have said activities and . . . Ohhh, I don't know . . . we had Mortar Boards, a Senate vice-president, a Mirage editor . . .

And now, persevering readers, we will reward you all with a little game called Nostalgics. There are words or groups of words, the mention of which or the seeing of them in print recalls to us an area of our existence that has been sweet, warm, and quietly thrilling . . . like Shelley Berman! We'll tell you about Nostalgics. Here are a few examples: the words "twenty stupendous pledges," or "I'll give you a show boat for a pledge dance theme," or a Swedish accent, these set us into a frenzy of remembering. How about this: "Go directly to class—do not stop at the Hub," or "Black that kick!" at the Powder Puff game—gets you where you live, eh?

In fact, we've been fine-e-e thank you, fine!

Sparks of enthusiasm kindled DZ flaming lamp.

The Delta Zeta lamp burned brightly this year, not because a mystical genie had polished it, but because each girl in the chapter contributed many sparks of enthusiasm. Some contributed their scholarship for light, while others shined up their lamps with hard work and fun in activities, as witnessed by our placing in the homecoming decorations' contest.

The thrill over our wonderful pledge class was acknowledged by a successful pledge dance, "Songs of the South," decorated on a colonial theme.

"Mom" Norcross, our new housemother added her spark of fun and helpfulness; we welcomed her with a luncheon in her honor.

Our flame, however, was not isolated to ourselves or even our rapidly progressing new home on Anderson Street. We shared its warmth through our philanthropic project, entertainment of faculty guests, and the busy weekends with Moms and Dads.

Finally, our lamp was lighted by what we gained from others, by strengthening our friendships with other DePauw women and, in many cases, by chaining our lamp to that special fraternity pin.

Like something out of "Gone with the Wind"—not the girls, the house . . . The girls? Typical American girls. Well, some of them not so typical . . . good group, though, all kinds—it takes all kinds . . . And the kids got twenty-four more just like them—well, not just like them, but great kids. Ask the Grads, or Dads, they had a ball—yeah, special week-ends for them . . . Sharp kids too—KTK Queen, frog trainers, Mortar Boards, Phi Betas, all kinds . . . Functioning group. Like when they gave with faculty dinner, good-time exchanges, and big dance—swingin' affair, like Almost Paradise, for the pledges . . . Winter? Like it was real cool—well, up to exams when things got hot, man, Hot! But they cooled them—the kids, the exams—get me? . . . Then it was good grins from Jan. to June, good times—the Duo—more exams, and it was over, the year I mean—like go, going, went—like gone . . . Thetas? Like they're way out! Off campus, I mean. Like I'm a waiter there, I aughta know.

Construction was key word for KAPPA key-wearers.

Bang! Pound! DONE! Such were the key words of the key-weorers in the Kappa "House-under-construction" during the first few weeks of foll. All was confusion those first doys but within a few weeks the renovated Kappa house was back to normal, housing fifty-nine Kappa Gammas in its redecorated addition.

Then rush followed, bringing twenty-one new pledges who treadded down "Angel Avenue" at their annual November pledge donce.

It was long-underwear and a beat-nik theme for the Kappa Pops an Dod's Day with each Dad wearing "senior cards" in the form of long-underwear P.J.'s. Old Gold Day and Blackstack brought another Queen condidate. And speaking of Blackstack, it was punt formation for eleven of the Kappa Gamms at the annual Powder-puff football game with the D.G.'s which occupied "behind-Blackstack" territory.

Spring brought numeraus exchanges, new pinmen, the Gold-digger's cotch and yes . . . finals and graduation.

In the last months a repeated banging and pounding echoed through-cut the house . . . The Kappas had fin-ished another successful year.

BETAS enjoyed life in the same old new house.

New house? Well, I wouldn't exactly call it new—it's been all of two years now. What? No, we probably won't be building again for a while.

It was the same old Beta Theta Pi: it was the same old new house (who broke the shutter slat off on the second floor? And the crock in the living room ceiling?); they were the same old classes of '60, '61, and '62 (Istanbul and Strasbourg deported Sharp and Roberts, respectively, so they were back); it was the same old grind—scholarships, activities, athletics, socializing.

There was an innovation: we had a larger pledge class than usual (twenty-six); we had a larger chapter than usual (for decency's sake, at least one had to be added to last year's number).

It was the same old pig roast but new pigs, it was the same old Christmas house dance, it was the same old Miami Triad, it was the same old Sweetheart banquet, it was the same old chicken barbecue, it was the same old et cetera.

Same old Beta Theta Pi—hell, we wouldn't want it any different!

DELTA CHI's reserved desks in library, Duck.

"I tell you guys, this active social program won't mix with studies," spoke the Scholarship Chairman. "With all these serenades, dances, picnics, and exchanges, when are you going to find time to study?" But somehow we did. It's true that we kept ourselves moving socially, but on the other hand, enough of the brothers had reserved desks in the library to keep us well represented academically. On serenades we marched to the sound of Bagpipes and neighbor's curses. Drums in the parlor were always being played during breaks. The scattered newspapers attested to the news-mindedness of Delta Chi's, as did WGKE which was practically run by Villa Lante men. The Rhines were kept busy throwing new pinmen in the showers, but were in turn harried by the upperclassmen who made sure they did not neglect their duties to their education and, of course, their future home.

Well, the activities chart was loaded by the end of the year; and, after reviewing the events of the year, we were all pleased with what we had accomplished in so short a time.

Sagacious DEKES exploded the myths.

Contrary to popular opinion, the Dekes are not all psych majors.

Contrary to popular opinion, there are no subversive activities in the East.

Contrary to popular opinion, our Old Gold Day decoration was "Python," and not cobra, "Valparoitho."

Contrary to popular opinion, there are lights in the Deke bummroom.

Contrary to popular opinian, Deke pledges are treated with kindness, consideration, and sympathy.

Contrary to popular opinion, Robe-Ann Park is not part of the Deke back yard and is free to any and all comers.

Contrary to popular opinion, Deke cars are legal—just not paid for.

Contrary to popular opinion, there will now be a cover charge far future Old Gold Day weekends.

Contrary to popular opinion, the Deke State Day did not affect the whole state.

Contrary to popular opinion, the stor above the water tower is not for the virgin of the Deke house—and there is no significance whatsoever in its annual disappearance.

Smiling actives set standard for DELT pledges.

"The Best of Everything" stands out as a Delt senior looks back on his four rigorous college years. There was that first time after pledging that he stood in awe with his pledge brothers before "smiling" actives who were saying something about it being a pledge's duty to keep the house clean while the upperclassmen held down the fort. The next year he found the tables had turned and that he was now one of those present. Dancing in the sunken garden and playing ball on the front lawn were yearly occurrences. Then, too, studying was interrupted from time to time with those "lemonades in the harbor, blanket parties in the bin, and serenades in the West Room," just to keep life interesting. He knows that come Old Gold Day next fall he will return to the "shelter" to find a pledge sleeping on the living room floor so an alum can have his pad.

Changes created traditions for cosmopolitan DU's.

Change was the keynote for Delta Upsilon in 1959-60. The addition of a new annex, located directly across the street, allowed us to expand our membership. A formidable great Dane, Echo by title, became our new guardian mascot. Moreover, a cosmopolitan touch was added to the household when three exchange students from Mainz, Tokyo, and Singapore joined our ranks. Change also extended to the social realm where the "Firemen's Fling" was replaced by a "Ghetto Party" in the basement catacombs of the new annex.

Displaying notable improvement in our swimming, basketball and baseball teams our intra-mural competition took a turn for the better. And the volleyball team continued its winning ways this year.

Exchanges and serenades remained at their traditional best, unmarred by any new innovation. And, with only minor improvements DU's and dates once again enjoyed a Rose Dance complete with waterfall, rock garden, and roses. Rush tradition remained unaltered as we pulled in twenty-three top freshmen. Excelling in nearly all areas, these men proved that they could be counted on to uphold our chapter traditions.

LAMBDA CHI "Watermelon Bust" best ever.

Our annual Watermelon Bust provided the seeds for the plant of Lambda Chi's activities. In an atmosphere of warm enthusiasm, the plant sprouted quickly, giving us the Koppa Kiss-In and a hybrid of barbecue and hayride. The plant branched into exchanges and mixers and brought forth our perennial Moulin Rouge party—with its costumes and house decorations—and the pledge dance. The alums lent a hand on Old Gold Day and soon the plant was growing so furiously that it had to be trimmed back by actives and pledges alike to make way for studies.

In the spring our plant blossomed forth with the White Rose Formal at which our Crescent Girl was crowned, and the Little 500 bicycle race. For our freshman, initiation and initiation banquet came as the fruit of many long hours of work and anticipation. As the second semester came to a close, our plant provided us with a bumper crop of memories—several bushels full—and a few extra watermelons to start off with next fall.

MHA upheld traditions and democratic ideals.

Men's Hall began the year by articulating its unique essence and ideals during rush: to promote fellowship, friendship, and enthusiastic cooperation among its members, believing voluntary fraternal ties more binding because of their spontaneous nature; to provide the social and political privileges necessary to a student at DePauw; to foster a spirit of loyalty to DePauw; to demonstrate the principles of democracy by excluding no one, realizing that each individual, unique in his personality, is of essential and paramount worth to a fraternal organization. Comprehending these transcendent ideals, twelve men pledged in rush, to which were added a substantial number afterward.

These ideals were realized in a successful social program: the fall hayride, exchanges, the fall dance—"Witches' Whirl," the Christmas Banquet, the Sweetheart Banquet, and the spring dance. They were apparent in the Song Group, the Razz Banquet, the Pledge father-son Banquet, intramurals, in which, though often the underdogs, Hallmen competed with spirit and enthusiasm.

Since Men's Hall has always been based on these ideals, they are traditions. And as traditions which define MHA they remained unbroken.

Change and growth marked PHI DELT year.

"The old order changeth, yielding place to the new . . ." was indeed the case at Phi Delta Theta for 1959-60. Last year's green rhines gave place to a smiling, fumbling, earnest, and equally green twenty-two man pledge class who immediately made themselves heard on campus by undaunted attacks on the Sig bell.

As per usual, the first burst of gung-honesty wore off, and the men settled down to the more serious business of making a profitable year for P.D.T. With an addition in sight the jocks took advantage of the backyard for the last time to get the football and basketball teams off to flying starts. At the end of October Phi Delt and their dates were transported to Ft. Lauderdale for their fall house dance. Exchanges, heightened by a fast-moving combo, and the popular Miami Triad were high spots in the social season. In looking back on a successful year, one factor stands out in making it such: the hard work of our other "rhine," new housemother, Mom Miller. To her we dedicate this year of change and growth.

FIJI tunnel project took back seat to IM sports.

Hand holding pencil . . . pencil holding chin . . . chin resting on pencil—or, sketchy portrait of a thinking man thinking about tittle-tattle for the Mirage.

All right. We'll admit it. We have: an annex rated a flicker above a firetrap, a forever dripping shower, a pretty housemother who is available for dates, a new stereo set, thirteen really great pledges, a dog named Falstaff in honor of . . . , and a new house looming ahead on the immediate horizon.

And the Fijis are happy to report: that we finally wen on IM football championship; that, being parttime tree dwellers, we still return to the primitive state each spring; that some of our men got pinned.

We're sorry to report: that some of our men got pinned; that we lost two men in the Friar purge; and that not too much (actually, nothing) has been done on the Theta tunnel, our hoped for subterranean connection between us and our lovely, much in demand, sisters. What better place could we end?

PHI PSI celebrated 95th year on DPU campus.

Phi Kappa Psi's 95th year on the DePauw campus saw many changes come over the Old Rockpile. Structurally speaking Phi Psi's answer to the GDP involved an extensive remodeling program—soon to be completed.

On the activities side of the ledger, the Big Green continued to stand out. IM basketball was a complete success, and DePauw varsity athletics received more than ample support from the brothers.

The trend seemed to swing from bridge to euchre during recreation periods. Good old rock and roll still held a revered place in the hearts of upperclassmen.

The social calendar featured our Christmas house dance and pre-Pram banquet. As always, Oklahoma U's strongest backer, Mam Edwards, was there to keep things down to a dull roar. Our new addition to the kitchen, Mrs. Chapman, did her share in expanding the waistlines of many of the brothers.

The graduating seniors will, of course, be sorely missed and fondly welcomed back on Old Gold Day. Already an all-out spring rush has formed the nucleus of what should be another outstanding pledge class in the true tradition of Phi Kappa Psi.

Spirit of brotherhood pervaded SAE activities.

SAE swung into its eleventh and best year with the pledging of seventeen enthusiastic men, eager to share in Minerva's wisdom and add to Leo's strength. The new housemother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bront, astounded the brothers with her phenomenal memory of names and proved her mettle by serving the tastiest meals on campus.

The fall grasser at Robe-Ann was widely acclaimed by coeds and brothers alike; and in October couples, appropriately garbed in black, celebrated Halloween at "Dance Macabre."

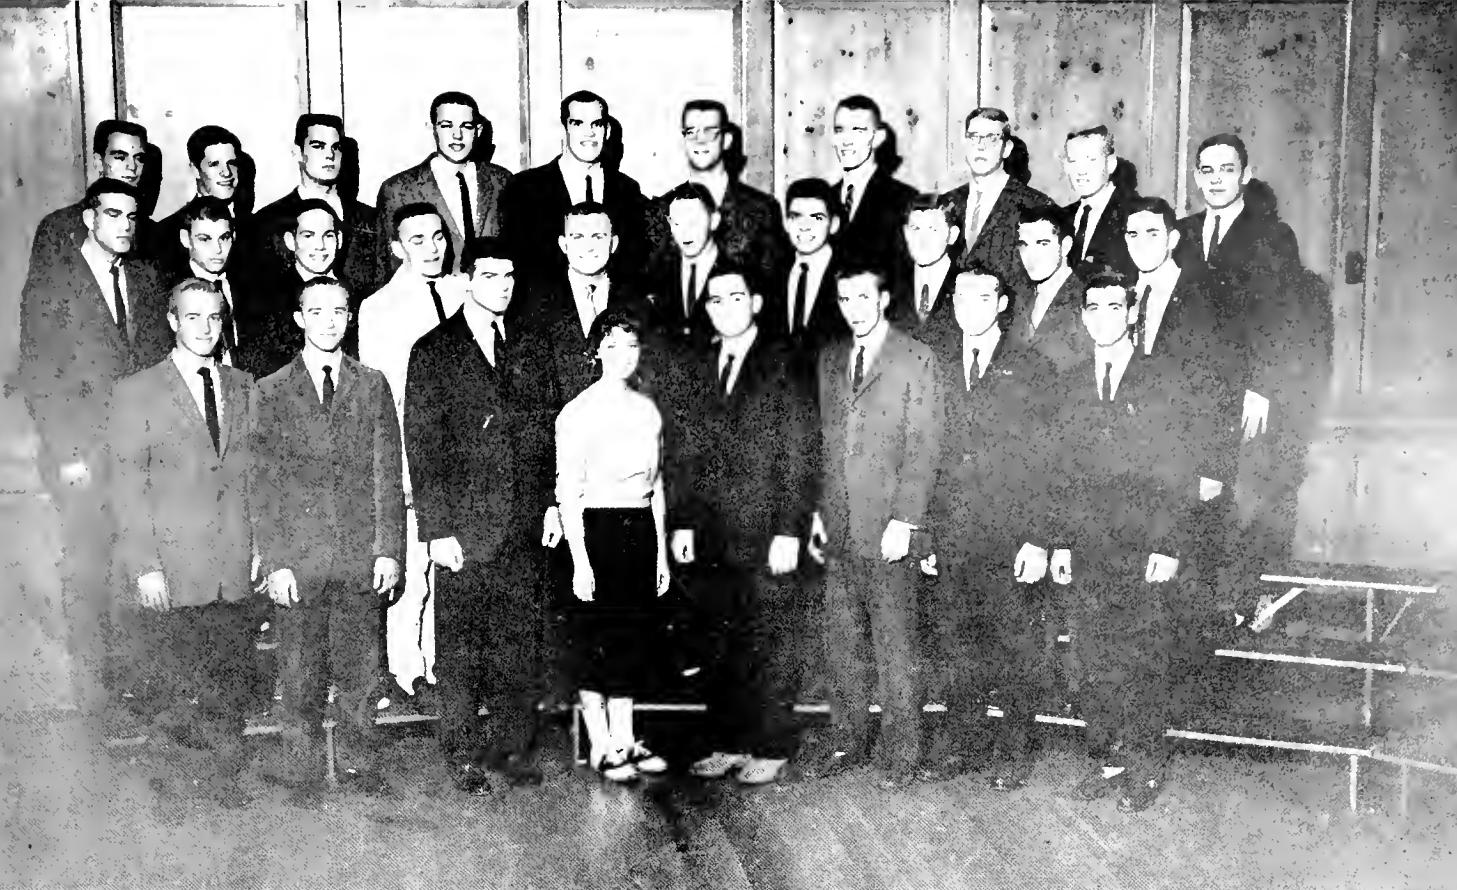

Though a little tense after mid-terms, the Sons of Minerva managed to complete another successful IM season, treat underprivileged children of Greencastle to Christmas cheer with friendly Kappa neighbors, and catch up adequately enough over vacation to return and smash finals.

Another semester brought numerous campus accomplishments in the SDX show and Collegians, as well as stimulation of enthusiasm for more scholastic, athletic, and social successes—the Trio even learned some new numbers! June arrived, seniors bid fond farewell, and brothers old and new in the bands of SAE looked forward to a bigger and better Year Twelve.

SIGS reluctantly traded binoculars for books.

After years of anticipation and the year of the hole Sigma Chi moved into the ski lodge located across the street from Gad and next door to heaven. Then, enriched by twenty-two pledges, the Sigs swung into the year emphasizing "togetherness." After the Pi Phi's hung curtains, Sigs put binoculars away and turned attention to the perusal of intellectual subjects and pledge training. Before anything could be decided about the latter, upperclassmen found that the heterogeneous twenty-two were coming into line.

This was also the year to move out on campus. The movement was successful; and despite the celibate life of most of the senior class Sigma Chi managed to have a Sweetheart this year. The frosh did their best to iron out estrangement with the girls next door, while upperclassmen made dates for everything.

IM, varsity, and activity jocks piled up items for senior cords, others bolstered the house average. But the most important thing this year was proving that Xi was one chapter, not five. Although annex living had its advantages, the Sigs found that it was good to live together.

SIGMA NU's maintained peaceful annexes.

Another successful year became a reality at Sigma Nu, beginning with the face-lifting the house received during the summer and a good rush—resulting in twenty-seven prospective brothers. Mrs. Gorber—Mother G. to us—was again our counselor-mother. Thibideaux XIII was more prominent than ever (in more ways than one) in her role as guardian of the stadium and library.

Always striving to attain the acme of fraternity living, we tried to maintain the proper balance in the various phases of college life. Consequently, through the concentrated effort of all, our scholarship program proved successful. And, in keeping with Sigma Nu tradition, we remained at the top in IM competition. Campus-wise, the brothers did their share in increasing the scores at Blackstock and Bowman. In the social realm BP's, few-and-far between annex parties, and the annual spring PJ dance highlighted the year. Some of the confirmed bachelors and some of the not-so-confirmed lost their minds and their pins.

The year ended, taking its place with many successful ones of the past.

LOCUST girls discovered a new way of life.

"College Sheds New Light; Let's Discover Ours." With this theme the Locust "Lovies" found a new way of living at DePauw. They discovered that the rays of light painted in many directions—toward academic challenge, toward assuming initiative and responsibility, and toward establishing new friendships. These features of college life were punctuated by a myriad of events. Like all other freshmen, Locust girls spent their first week putting up bulletin boards and rearranging furniture. They discovered that walking could be fun, and that they like the informality of DePauw's campus. Most important of all, they found, through living together, sharing hardships and happiness, the "new light" that maturity and happiness can shed.

LUCY ROWLAND HALL

LUCYites sewed up successful first year.

Though at first slightly confused by the intricacies of campus life, Lucy Ladies managed to sew up a successful year. Using the threads of loyalty and pep, we worked our way through a sometimes bewildering, but always enjoyable, first year. We learned to work together to produce the WUS Jello Booth and our Old Gold "No He'll Never Return" float. Dad's Day found us learning songs from nervous song leaders and waging wars with waiters over seconds. Then it was snowball fights in the Quad, Gold-diggers (we even had to pick up our dates!) and the hall picnic. The end of the year in sight, we paused to look over the year's events. From this perspective the pattern of our freshman year came into focus. Then we could truly say we had arrived!

We may not be good but we're loved—and our attempts at harmony are fun, anyway.

On Quad Dance night, girls in the houses sit home and watch all the males gather at the U.B.

RECTOR HALL

RECTOR belles chimed in time.

"Rector Belles Chime in Time!" This was the motto which greeted us when we arrived on September 3, 1959. For the first few weeks we were rather off-key, as we kept swinging back and forth among the three R's—Rush, Registration, and Room-decoration. After classes started, however, we achieved the harmony that was to last throughout the 1959-60 school year.

Singing around the piano seems to be a favorite pastime as these Rector Belles try their hand at harmonizing

Hey, you guys, who do you suppose would send me this silly thing?

Tackled 3 R's—rush, registration, and room decoration.

TOP ROW: Susan Clark; Nan Braude; Catharine Crimmel; Dorothy Steen; Margot McIver; Marilyn Mead; Jean Brown; Virginia Jones; Nancy English; Louise Quinn; Lee Livingston; Barbara Owen. THIRD ROW: Marilyn Muse; Caroline Musick; Susan Doy; Ellen Schmink; Rebecca Watts; Barbara Haflund; Carol Lackwood; Cecily Isbell; Barbara Leline; Carol Bash; Cathy Delbridge; Nancy Hough; Barb Melnik. SECOND ROW: Evelyn Whaley; Pat Herrell; Susan Smith; Martha Davis; Gretchen Fletcher; Fran Snyder; Judy Thimm; Jan Balsbaugh; Pat Hastetter; Rita Hagmeyer. BOTTOM ROW Linda Taylor; Lea Hartzler; Carol Bohannan; Martha Stutsman; Dorothy Dewald; Betsy Graham; Sandy Commins; Gail Gamble; Ginny Cox; Mary Libby

On Old Gold Day we all chimed in; and, by harmonizing our fun-time and study-time, we found time to thoroughly enjoy Dad's Day festivities, Christmas celebrations, and many other activities that made our freshman year so wonderful.

Ask a Rector Belle what she remembers best about her life in the dorm and you will get a variety of answers: Birthday parties in the fudge kitchens; the excitement in the air before a big dance; bridge parties with Miss Brink in the middle of third floor corridor; midnight serenades; that wonderful moment when a roommate announced that she was pinned or the fun of trying to guess who would blow the candle out in a pinning ceremony. But all of us will agree that the days we spent as Rector Belles will be a song in our hearts for the rest of our lives.

Apparently those two girls loafing under the ladder aren't the least bit superstitious.

The reason this sevensome is laughing so hard is that none of them know how to play bridge.

MASON HALL

MASON girls sought refuge in the elevator.

Otis the Elevator I've been affectionately dubbed by my Mason girls. On opening day twenty-two freshmen and seven transfers marveled at the luxury of my service; fifty-two sophomores were my biggest load; and Miss Branin, our new resident counselor, was my most honored passenger. I was disappointed that Vincent Price, who stayed in our guest room and talked at dorm meeting, didn't take a ride on me.

These smart girls know that it's better to sign out ahead of time on the day of a big dance.

My girls have kept me busy this year. Last fall they got me up at 5:30 the morning they erected their twenty foot telephone for Old Gold Day decorations. On "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" weekend Dads and Moms appreciated my service to fourth floor. Four buzzes after hours meant a quick trip to the lounge for a candlelight ceremony. During exams I spent the early hours of the morning going to the basement for cokes. Excuse me now. There's my buzzer.

In an atmosphere of congeniality and graciousness professors and their wives chat with charming hostesses.

She gains practical experience by helping care for others.

Nurses led hectic life at WILE HALL.

"Riiiring!" The DePauw nursing student begins her day with that "Oh, it can't be 6:00 A.M. already" feeling. She barely has time for breakfast before dashing up to her ward to assist doctors, answer lights, and pass out medicines. After an afternoon of classes—taught by those handsome residents—she spends the evening developing brain cells, preparing for that weekly written exercise. Then it's to bed after an exhausting, but satisfying, day.

TOP ROW: Lynn Marsh, Marilyn Smith, Janet Bloxsome; Janet Hamilton; Patricia Zwickel, Carol Rummell, Carolyn Cran. SECOND ROW: Elise Medlin, Joneen Murlin, Sondra Whitaker; Janet Smith Romsey; Ellie Rapp, Judy O'Dell, Zoe Stafford. BOTTOM ROW: Ellen Rosselot; Arlene Calkins, Nonce Burkett; Linda Lowder; Diana Herr.

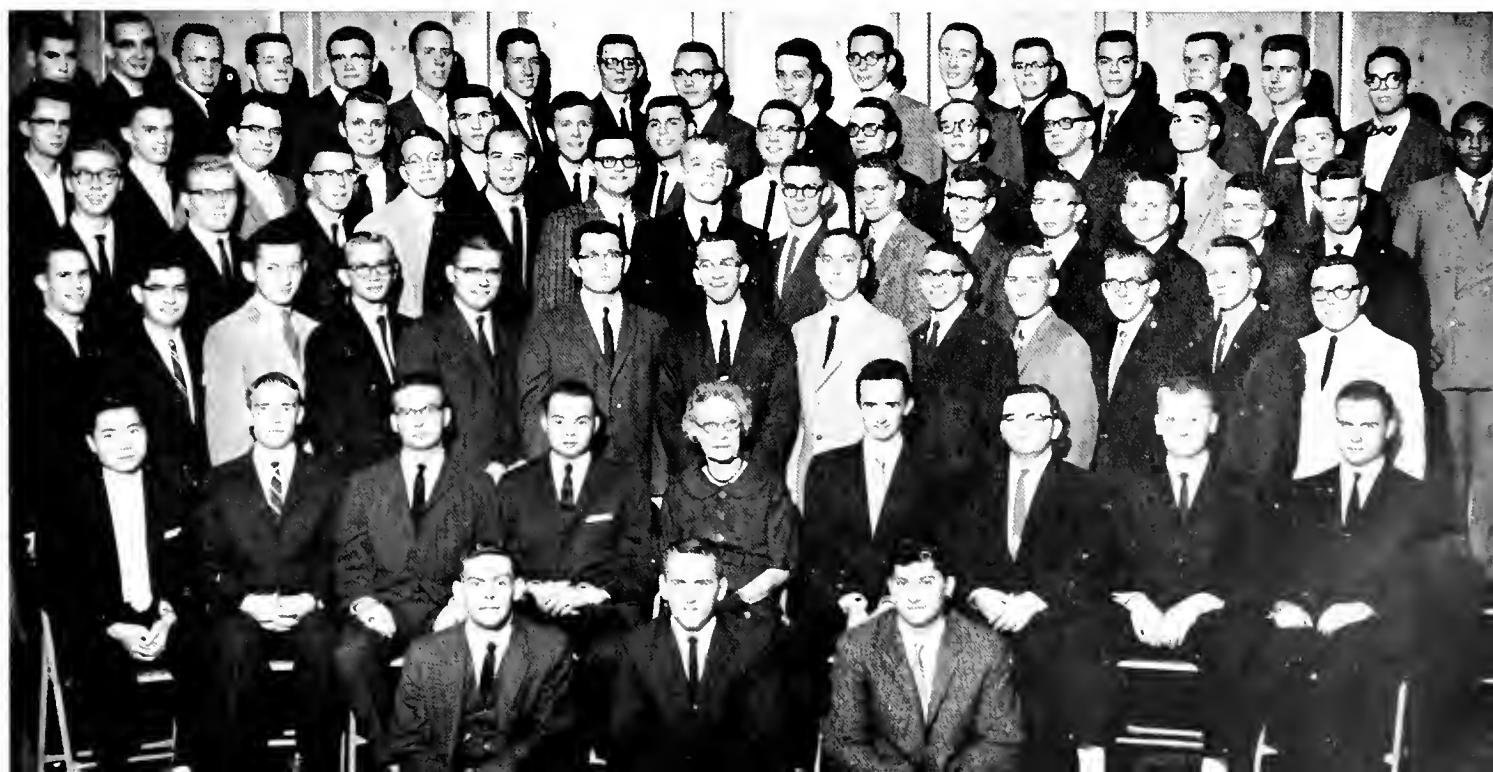

Want to completely confuse these two guys on the phones? Go call one of them on the third.

Individuality, diversity characterized INDEE.

The diversity of the Longden Hall Independents was shown as they soiled resolutely through the year. Some were pro-hall, some complacent, a few anti-everybody. Many were active, many studied, some didn't, some wouldn't. A few radicals went inside and looked out, some remained outside and looked in.

Not always sure just what exactly they were being independent from, they forbore togetherness nevertheless. Individuality continued to be their criterion. The only brotherhood that they share is that of man.

FLORENCE HALL

There is an old saying which begins, "Something old, something new . . ." This phrase might well be adopted to explain Flossie and its program for 1959-60. Although Flossie is one of the oldest buildings on campus, it houses one of the newest groups—the frash. These freshmen reflected their newness in their Old Gold decorations, featuring Charlie Brown, and the foll dance—revealing that they had the ability to see a project through. The proud possessors of the Winkler Sportsmanship Award, they worked hard to keep the plaque in the local bumroom for a second year. For, although at the end of the year it was old to them, they wanted to create a new tradition for future Flossie men to follow, by capturing the award once more.

TOP ROW Herman Barber, David Greer, Larry Oman, Robert Fry, David Grassman; Roger Miller, Jael Thamason; Jack Jonas; Robert Wertz; Jack Burns. THIRD ROW Bill Berg, John Snively, George Ryan; Larry Ramsted; Jack Daugherty; Bill Kierstrand, Keith Jones; Lanny Fields; Lowell Johnson. SECOND ROW Jim Allen; Dan Mussetter; Garrett Kurtz; Roger Gaither, Richard Fowler; Philip Murfitt; Tony Martin; David Magnusan; Dennis Priser. BOTTOM ROW David Staley, Kurt Nicewander, Dave Lewis, Bruce Phillips; John Murphy; Mike Reinker; Bill Ludlaw; John Deuth.

If you don't get any mail of your own you can always look at the notes on the bulletin board

Even at this age they just can't seem to resist shaking packages

TOP ROW: Mel Dyck; Silvano Ogessa, Robert Beauchamp; Lewis White; John Campbell; Henry Deering; Joseph Hajdu, James Howie, Richard Kline; Thomas McElhaney; Albert Bratigan; Richard Mochel. Your future is already here! Your electrical future, that is. Designs for fabulous new electrical appliances and devices of all kinds are on the drafting boards. New uses for electricity are being created and tested. Ways of manufacturing electricity with atomic power are being investigated. And, as the electric company for this area, we are continually building new facilities to assure abundant electric power for those we serve — today, tomorrow and in the years to come.

Why some communities grow faster than others...

"How much electric power is available in this area for both our immediate and future needs?"

"What is its cost?"

"Is the service dependable?"

These are questions asked by key executives looking for new plant sites. And the communities with the right answers are the communities that grow.

It's a big reason why Northern and East Central Indiana and Southwestern Michigan are three of the country's fastest growing areas. They enjoy plenty of low-cost and dependable electric service. And we, at I&M, are proud to provide this electric power for growth!

I&M is one of six interconnected companies in the American Electric Power System. These companies provide electric service to over five million people in 2,364 communities in Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

Now that our final deadline has been met, we, the staff of the 1960 Mirage, can look back on the combination of fun and traumatic experience that went hand in hand while the book was in production. But only our fond memories are lingering with us. As editor, I hope that this book, the 1960 Mirage of DePauw University, will be what all its readers want it to be, the most enjoyable ever.

To Fred,
Remember look
when we walk and wonder if that walk that church. You went insects that church. It little Episcopal church. To every. You sure was a good church. It was so pure know Ann, that church was of the was like you. it was so pure the and vanished. It was what you are.
best Fred. Ann, as you are by the keep always. You're got the world by the now. Tail.

Say B. D. and also I really appreciated
May you send your like an angel. If I may he treat you like a dragon. If I come may also Old Maid's business as well. Old Maid's seem over the time. D. to go to. You well - back to you
you

6 AM 10th
I took the trail I got from 'Bob' through D.S. Ranch. Rode along my usual path.

Dear Ann,
Our little adopted
third floor boy who must have been months old! See our miss four months back and how cute
she is! See some picture of the house. You are a natural! It has been and it is getting to be a fine year, some, happened, wife seem that's what makes it get along so well. You to appreciate it. I think you are a wonderful person & dad and I have never met anyone who brighter, it is not just his physical, and your gave him a good education. I am sure he will be answers I can appreciate them. I wish you would ones and his summer. I met him at one of Lori's good, ate met him at one of Lori's good, and we will have a lot to talk about. Keep sweet sugar!
Love,
Marge
